Republican Senators May 'Rescue' Governor Tonight

Big Louis Johnson Takes Over Job As Defense Secretary

Washington, March 28 (AP)—Louis Johnson was sworn in today as secretary of defense in the most elaborate installation of a cabinet officer the capital has ever seen.

Johnson, a 58-year-old Clarksburg, W. Va., attorney, succeeded James V. Forrestal, a New York banker. Forrestal had held the office since it was created by passage of the Armed Services Unification act in June, 1947.

The swearing-in ceremony, colorful with military pomp, was held in the open five acre center court of the Pentagon.

The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Fred W. Vinson before a crowd estimated at about 15,000.

Mrs. Johnson sat in the front row of spectators, appearing very proud and smiling. She was clad in a blue suit, fur neckpiece and a pre-Easter bonnet of blue straw. She wore a single yellow orchid. With her was Mrs. Perle Mesta, well known Washington hostess, who worked closely with Johnson during the political campaign.

Will He Be Tough?

In the audience were members of the cabinet, including Attorney General Clark, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, Secretary of Interior Krug. There also was a large delegation from the American Legion which Johnson at one time headed.

All around the Pentagon headquarters of the frequently squabbling army, navy and air force, the brass and semi-brass were asking:

How tough will he be? Is it true that he intends knocking heads together? Will there be some new faces about the council table?

Those who know Johnson said he held no thought of belligerency or of immediate wholesale changes in the personnel of the national military establishment. But they advised strongly against any continuation of the inter-service quarreling.

Except for the fact that both men smoke pipes and don't need to worry about money, Forrestal and Johnson have little in common.

Johnson is big, powerfully built, blunt spoken, a veteran of many skirmishes on convention floors. He has the reputation of being politically skillful—at least he raised funds so successfully for President Truman's campaign that the Democratic national committee found itself with a satisfying surplus.

Tension Increases For Iran And Russia

Border Incident Stirs Up New Trouble

Tehran, Iran, March 28. (AP)—Iran has demanded that Russia release two Iranian soldiers reported wounded and captured by Soviet troops in a frontier incident.

The report indicated increased tension between the two countries. Iran previously banned the Tudeh (Communist) party.

A high military source said one Iranian soldiers was killed in the border incident. He said the Iranian commander protested to Soviet authorities and demanded return of the prisoners. Negotiations for their release and payment of indemnity was reported under way over the weekend.

The scene of the incident was identified by the military informant as a border area claimed by both Iran and Russia in the northeast part of the country, adjoining the Soviet Turkman republic. He said 50 Russian troops were involved.

Italy Will Adhere To Atlantic Treaty; Red Pacts Rejected

Rome, March 28 (AP)—Italian adherence to the North Atlantic treaty was formally assured last night as the Senate voted its approval.

The government-controlled upper chamber then turned down a leftist proposal for treaties of friendship with Russia and her satellites.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi said he would consider such treaties with the Russian bloc only after the Soviet withdrew its opposition to Italy's entry into the United Nations. Russian vetoes have kept Italy out of the U. N. so far.

The vote to take Italy into the North Atlantic alliance was 188 to 112. It was the final parliamentary step necessary, since the chamber of deputies—the lower house—approved the treaty last week, 342 to 170. Communists fought the defense pact bitterly, in and outside of parliament. The Senate vote came after 50 hours of debate.

Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza left Washington to sign the treaty next Monday even before the Senate had voted.

The vote turning down the proposal for treaties with the Soviet and her satellites was 176 to 105.

Tiny Baby Arrives In Auto Collision On Saginaw Street

Saginaw, Mich., March 28 (AP)—A tiny baby girl had an exciting arrival into the world today.

Mrs. Ernest Wichert, 18, gave birth to the baby while a neighbor was speeding her in his car from nearby Birch Run to St. Mary's hospital.

Then, three blocks from the hospital, the car collided with another.

Despite $1,000 damage and two missing tires, Gordon W. Reed drove the remaining distance.

At the hospital, doctors made their usual announcement:

"Mother and child are doing fine."

WOUNDED BY CHUM

Detroit (AP)—Charles Judson, 14, was seriously wounded Saturday night by a shot fired inadvertantly while he and a teen-aged chum, Kenneth Busser, were examining two automatic pistols. Police said the gun in Kenneth's hand discharged by accident. Charles was taken to receiving hospital.

Robbers Get Only $20 in Postoffice Theft At Pinckney

Pinckney, Mich., March 28 (AP)—Postal inspectors today were looking for two or more persons who burglarized the Pinckney post office Saturday night.

Tear gas bombs set off by an automatic burglar alarm system drove away the thieves after they had obtained only $20 in stamps and change from a drawer.

In their haste the burglars left behind their heavy acetylene torches with which they already had burned a two-foot square hole in the outer door of the safe.

QUAKES JOLT MANILA

Manila, March 28 (AP)—Manila was rocked by two earthquakes 15 minutes apart today. No damage was reported immediately.

A mild temblor was felt at 2:22 p. m. (1:22 a. m., E. S. T.). It was followed 15 minutes later by a sharp, twisting tremor.

DROWNS IN CISTERN

Hastings (AP)—Three-year-old Thomas Leslie Clancey drowned in a cistern Sunday at his home near Gurnsey lake, 18 miles west of here. His father, Robert Clancey, found the boy's body and tried unsuccessfully to administer artificial respiration.

Flying Boat Down At Sea; 11 Men Saved

Pearl Harbor, March 28. (AP)—Eleven survivors were rescued from a sinking navy flying boat in the middle of the Pacific last midnight.

Navy LSM 448 picked up the airmen nine hours after they went down. Brief radio contact said merely the men were rescued. No further details were given.

The landing ship was ordered to take the survivors to Kwajalein in the Marshall Islands, their starting point. The Catalina was ditched at sea with a dead engine 605 miles southwest of Johnston Island, 700 miles southwest of here.

After putting down on the rough sea the flying boat radioed it was leaking and could not stay afloat much longer.

The navy rushed 15 other planes to the areal. Life rafts were dropped. Some of them smashed in in the rough seas.

An air force B-17 from Hickam Field hovered over the foundering flying boat until the rescue ship arrived.

The LSM was 75 miles north when the twin-engined Catalina went down. The surface craft's radio operator had gone off duty but had left his receiving set on and got the relayed distress call from the navy here. Seven minutes later the LSM was on its way.

Southern Tornadoes Kill 28, Injure 200

Path Of Destruction Left Behind In 8 States

Little Rock, Ark., March 28 (AP)—Tornadoes and lesser windstorms apparently had subsided in the South today after leaving a 48-hour trail of death, injury and destruction in eight states.

Twenty-eight persons were killed, about 200 were injured, and scores were made homeless. Property damage was heavy, but no one had attempted to estimate its total.

The storms struck mainly in sparsely populated rural areas. They ranged from Texas on the southwest to Kentucky on the northeast. Infury they varied from Arkansas, where 17 persons died and 98 were injured, to Louisiana, where one person was hurt.

Next to Arkansas, the chief sufferer was Mississippi, where eight were killed and 48 injured.

The toll in other states:

Oklahoma—Two dead, 20 injured.
Texas—One dead, 26 injured.
Tennessee—Several injured.
Kentucky—Six injured.
Missouri—Five injured.

In Washington the Red Cross made a preliminary allocation of $100,000 for the storm-stricken areas. From reports of 15 disaster workers in the field, the agency estimated that at least 300 homes had been wrecked or damaged.

Head of Australian Communists Faces Charge of Sedition

Sydney, Australia, March 28. (AP)—The general secretary of the Australian Communist party was charged with sedition today for pledging support to Russia if Soviet troops should enter Australia.

The communist leader, Lawrence Louis Sharkey, pleaded innocent at a special session of federal court. He elected to be tried by a jury.

Sharkey faces two charges—one of uttering seditious words and one of publishing seditious words on or about March 4.

Opening of the case revealed a split within trade unions generally considered Communist-dominated.

Many thousand members of the militant Longshoremen and Coal Miners Union refused to protest the prosecution of Sharkey. Of 23,000 men in the Wharf Laborers Union, only 5,000 obeyed an order of the federal executive to strike at the hour court opened. There were no other major work stoppages.

Former U. S. Clerk In Berlin Embassy Cited For Treason

Washington, March 28 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Herbert John Burgman, former employee of the U. S. embassy in Berlin, on treason charges.

He is accused of broadcasting Nazi radio propaganda during the war.

Burgman, 52, and a native of Hokah, Minn., was employed for 20 years as a clerk and statistician in the Berlin embassy prior to the outbreak of World War II.

The indictment charges that after Pearl Harbor Burgman refused to return to the United States with other American diplomatic personnel.

Instead, it said, he sought and obtained employment with the German government radio service.

Milwaukee Youth Faces Murder Trial For Killing Girl, 16

Milton Babich Denies He Signed Confession

Milwaukee, March 28 (AP)—Milton Babich was arraigned today on a first degree murder charge but stood mute. The 19-year-old youth is charged with killing Patricia Birmingham because the girl wisecracked about her sister's pregnancy in a love affair with him.

Preliminary hearing was set for 3 p. m. April 12. District Judge Harvey L. Neelen, after disputing with District Attorney William McCauley whether bail was allowable in a first degree murder case, remanded Babich to police custody without bond.

Babich stood silently while Arthur Richter, chief defense counsel, asked for his release on bond. State law does not require a plea by a defendant until the preliminary hearing, but Richter said previously Babich would plead innocent to the charge.

Mother Identifies Shirt

As the youth left the courtroom, his 17-year-old wife, Kathleen, with whom he eloped five weeks after Patricia was slain but two days before the body was found March 20, called and waved to him.

She rushed through the crowd to his side and cried, "Milt, when can I see you?" as he was taken away.

McCauley said police attention was focused on the youth after his mother, Mrs. Fabian Babich, identified a shirt which bound the dead girl's body as one belong to her husband.

The arraignment took only a few minutes.

McCauley said Babich signed a lengthy statement Saturday in which he admitted killing Patricia Feb. 10, the day she disappeared on her way home from school.

Couple On Honeymoon

Richter said Babich told him he had made the statements attributed to him in the document, but

Time Running Short On Rent Controls

Argument Over Increases Delays Legislation

Washington, March 28 (AP)—Senate-House conferees agreed today on a 15-month rent control extension bill requiring a "fair net operating income" for landlords.

The agreement clears the way for House and Senate action on a new rent control law before the present law expires Thursday at midnight.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, said the compromise bill will be brought up in the Senate as soon a draft of the agreement is put in shape.

The provision requiring a "fair net operating income" for landlords is the one the Senate insisted on for handling possible rent increases. The House conferees rejected it Saturday. That caused a deadlock over the weekend.

Adoption of that provision tosses out:

1. The section in the Senate bill which provided for some rent increases up to 10 per cent.

2. The provision in the House bill which required the government to fix rent ceilings at a level to assure landlords a "reasonable return on the reasonable value" of their property.

Alien Communist Eisler Takes Case Into Supreme Court

Washington, March 28. (AP)—Gerhart Eisler, alien Communist, today brought to the supreme court his legal battle to kill the house committee on un-American activities.

The committee called Eisler "the No. 1 Communist in the United States." Now Eisler wants the supreme court to declare unconstitutional the law establishing the committee. Further, he asks a ruling that the committee has no constitutional authority to compel any witness to testify.

If Eisler wins the supreme court to his views, he will escape serving a sentence of a year in jail and $1,000 fine for contempt of congress. He was convicted of contempt on a government assertion that he refused to be sworn as a witness when called before the committee Feb. 6, 1947.

The justice department called Eislers attack on the committee "preposterous."

Coal Mines Hum As Half Million End Their Layoff

Pittsburgh, March 28. (AP)—Nearly a half-million members of the United Mine Workers east of the Mississippi began returning to the pits today.

They acted on orders of John L. Lewis, blunt-talking and quick-acting president of the UMW who called a two-week work stoppage March 14.

As the deadline for the return-to-work movement was reached at 12:01 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) today, the few mines having midnight shifts reported "operations normal."

By the end of the day all 463,000 miners who quit at Lewis' orders were expected to be on the job. Throughout the soft and hard coal fields UMW lieutenants were unanimous that Lewis' orders would be followed to the letter.

Everything was ready for the miners to start earning money again. A spokesman for the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators association estimated the miners lost $55,000,000 in wages during their two weeks of idleness.

Lewis called the stoppage as a protest against Dr. James Boyd's appointment as director of the U. S. Bureau of Mines. He also termed it a memorial to miners killed and injured last year.

Hardly had the work stoppage gotten underway than the senate's interior committee approved President Truman's nomination by a 10-1 vote. Then, a few days later, the senate ignored Lewis—it confirmed Boyd by a 50-11 vote.

Even as the soft coal miners went back to the pits they were faced with a four-day week—and a dim Easter. April 1 is a contractural holiday for them—the date they observe John Mitchell day.

Mitchell, a UMW leader many years ago, is credited by the miners with having helped to establish the 8-hour day. Anthracite miners observe the holiday in October.

Week End Accidents Kill 9 In Michigan

Traffic Mishaps Fatal To Six Persons

(By The Associated Press)

At least nine persons in Michigan met death accidentally this weekend.

Six were killed in traffic mishaps, two drowned and one man was hit by a train while walking along railroad tracks.

Monroe (AP)—A two-car collision three miles south of here killed an 18-year-old Detroit youth and injured nine others during a fog early Sunday morning.

Donald Leroy Andrews, driver of one car, lost his life in the crash. He died a short time after being taken to Monroe General hospital.

Saginaw (AP)—A mother and her 17-months-old son died Saturday when a Grand Trunk passenger train struck their car on a grade crossing near here.

The victims were Mrs. Vincent J. Arch, 43, and her son Robert. The father, who was driving the car, was injured seriously.

Sheriff William A. Munroe of Saginaw county said the crossing has inadequate safety warnings.

Endurance Fliers In Air 300 Hours, Circle Over Miami

Miami, Fla., March 28 (AP)—The California endurance fliers passed the 300 hour mark aloft today, circling endlessly over the greater Miami area.

Bill Barris and Dick Riedel continued their routine, refueling from a speeding jeep, eating and sleeping and flying slowly and steadily all the time.

A spokesman for the fliers said they planned to turn the nose of their tiny plane, the Sunkist Lady, toward Tallahassee on Tuesday, and then continue their leisurely trip back across the country.

The fliers still had not reached the halfway mark in their attempt to better the world record of 726 hours set in 1939.

Barris and Riedel took off from Fullerton, Calif., at 8:44 a. m. (11:44 a. m. EST) March 15 and flew slowly across the United States to Miami. They arrived here Tuesday.

Displaced Europeans Coming To Michigan

Washington, March 28 (AP)—Michigan is the destination for some of the 550 displaced Europeans scheduled to reach New York today.

The International Refugee Organization, which is bringing them over, said that they will bring to 11,760 the number of persons admitted under the Displaced Persons Act.

More than half of the shipload will live in New York and Pennsylvania. The others will be split among 19 other states, including Michigan, and the District of Columbia.

CLAY'S SUCCESSOR? — Lt.-Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, above, Army deputy chief of staff, is reportedly being urged by Secretary of State Dean Acheson to take over from Gen. Lucious D. Clay as American military commander in Germany. Clay is expected to retire. Wedemeyer's last diplomatic assignment was a special mission to China for President Truman two years ago.

World Peace Rally Ends With Salvo Of Praise For Moscow

By JOHN H. WINANT

New York, March 28 (AP)—With a promise to continue its work in the future and with a salvo of praise for Soviet "peace" aims, the controversial "World Peace" conference has ended.

The three-day meeting of the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace closed last night. Some 18,700 persons jammed Madison Square Garden to cheer its last session—but other thousands picketed and jeered outside.

Speakers at the session, called a "Unite for World Peace" rally, struck a general note of praise for Soviet "peace" aspirations — asserting that leaders of the U. S. S. R. are anti-war and anxious for global peace.

Outside the Garden, a police-estimated crowd of 2,000 pickets milled about as the rally opened. They carried placards assailing the conference and chanted slogans charging it was Communist-dominated.

The U. S. State Department had described the affair as a sounding board for Communist propaganda. Sponsors of the meeting, the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and professions, have denied the charge.

Counter-rallies and anti-Communist protest groups denounced the conference, and almost constant picketing went on while it held its sessions at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, Carnegie Hall and the Garden.

As the affair ended, delegates stamped approval on resolutions that call for strengthening the United Nations, cooperating with peace movements throughout the world and bringing to the attention of United States governmental arms the decisions of the conferees.

A special action committee was set up to consider specific recommendations to carry out the resolutions. Dr. Allen M. Butler, of the Harvard Medical School, a member of this group, said it would meet today.

A. A. Fadeyev, chief Russian delegate and noted Soviet author, won loud applause from the Garden's capacity audience last night with an assertion that "our country, the Soviet Union, stands for peace and friendship among peoples, because we are first and foremost a state of plain people."

Government Party Swamps Opposition In French Election

Paris, March 28 (AP)—France's middle-of-the-road coalition swamped its De Gaullist and Communist opponents in the Cantonal (county) elections which ended yesterday.

The parties making up the present government won 1082 seats to 389 for the De Gaullists and 37 for the Communists. 99 seats went to Independents.

The De Gaullists, however, won more seats than any single party.

The election was for general councillors who help run the departments—roughly equivalent to American states. It has no effect on parliament or the cabinet, but was important chiefly as an indication of popular feeling. However, there was no voting in Paris, where the Communist vote is generally large.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Flint (AP) — A passenger train struck and killed John Barnett, 64 while he was walking along railroad tracks here Saturday. Witnesses said the victim stepped in front of the train.

New North Carolina Senator Welcomed

Taft-Hartley Substitute May Pick Up One Vote

By JACK BELL

Washington, March 28 (AP)—The administration may pick up a new vote for its substitute for the Taft-Hartley Labor Act when Dr. Frank P. Graham takes the oath this week as a Senator from North Carolina.

Graham comes to the Senate from the presidency of the University of North Carolina with about the warmest welcome that a president of the United States could give a newcomer. Graham has said he expects to give "general" support to White House proposals.

President Truman's praise of Graham last week as a great American and a great citizen apparently was calculated to offset questions raised by Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) and others. Bricker contended an atomic commission loyalty review board had refused to clear Graham to receive classified atomic information. Bricker said the board later was disbanded.

Graham, who heads the Oak Ridge Institute of nuclear studies, was defended by Senators Hoey (D-NC, McMahon (D-Conn.), Pepper (D-Fla.), and Morse (R-Ore.), who said there was no question of his loyalty.

Graham will have the opportunity to discuss the matter in the Senate himself, after he has taken the oath, probably tomorrow. Bricker and others said they intend to raise no question about seating the North Carolinian.

Beautiful Princess Of Egypt Marries

Cairo, March 28 (AP)—Princess Fawzia, the beautiful former Empress of Iran, was married today to Ismail Shirine Bey, a distant relative of Egypt's royal family.

The marriage was the second for the 30-year-old princess, who is the sister of Egypt's King Farouk. She had been married to the Shah of Iran until he divorced her last November. She had borne no son to inherit the Iranian throne.

Today's ceremony was a simple Moslem one and strictly private.

Patronage Dispute Holds Up Approval Of MUCC Director

Williams Doesn't Relish Assistance Of GOP

Lansing, March 28 (AP)—Republican senators today weighed the political advantages of "rescuing" Governor Williams from his Democratic cohorts.

They expect to get their chance tonight if Senator John B. Martin, jr., (R-Grand Rapids) goes through with his announced plan to move for the reconsideration of the vote by which the Senate Thursday rejected the confirmation of Paul L. Stanchfield, Williams' nomination for director of the state unemployment compensation commission.

G. O. P. senators who indicated they had enough votes to insure the confirmation of Stanchfield then sat back in glee when the nine Democratic senators balked at Stanchfield's confirmation in a patronage feud with Williams.

"Smart" Strategy Mapped

Now they are wondering whether it would have been smarter politics to throw their votes to Stanchfield and Williams in the first place and make the Democratic complaint of G. O. P. opposition go up the chimney in spooky laughter.

Martin, a freshman senator with a long eye to the future of his party said he thought the Republicans should vote for Stanchfield to show that they were not a part to any Democratic demands for unusual patronage "deals" with Williams.

He said he learned authoritatively that the nine Democrats put

Search And Seizure Conservation Law To Get Court Test

Lansing, March 28 (AP)—A full-scale test of the constitutionality of the controversial conservation "searches and seizures" law got under way today.

The conservation department announced it would appeal to the state supreme court the refusal of Municipal Judge Paul C. Younger to issue a warrant against Marshall Keeler of Lansing today.

Conservation Officer Earl Goff, the complaining witness, testified that Keeler refused to permit a search of his game coat, game bag, automobile and an examination of his gun and fishing equipment on Feb. 28.

The conservation department sought a warrant charging violation of the searches and seizures law, passed a year ago.

Younger said it was his opinion the law violated state and federal constitutional provisions against unreasonable searches and seizures.

The department will start mandamus action in the high court asking that Younger be ordered to issue the warrant.

The law under test was passed to supplant an old statute which former Attorney General Eugene F. Black ruled unconstitutional.

The new law modelled after laws in other states makes the assumption that all game and fish belong to the state. It holds that persons obtaining licenses to hunt and fish do so with the understanding that they relinquish their rights against searches of their person and automobile without a search warrant.

BOY BURGLARS FREED

Port Huron (AP)—The law moved in this weekend on two relieved young burglars. The boys, aged 10 and 12, admitted taking $25 in nickels and dimes from a grain elevator, but said some older boys were forcing them to make the thefts. They paid the money back and were released.

Woman Solon Named In Marriage Wreck Gets Death Threats

Washington, (AP) — Police are guarding the home of Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers, who reported she had been threatened with death in a series of grim letters.

Mrs. Rogers said the first threat was received around Valentine's Day, and that there was no connection between the letters and the three-day old lawsuit naming her as the third figure in a marriage breakup.

The 67-year-old Massachusetts legislator is dean of Republican women in Congress. She did not reveal the nature of the threats, or their source. She said, however, that authorities are working on the case.

Meanwhile, the widely-publicized marriage breakup case progressed another notch.

Process servers served Capt. Harold A. Latta-Lawrence, 47, with papers ordering him into court to answer his wife's suit for $300 a month separate maintenance.

The wife, Mrs. Eilene Diana Latta-Lawrence, in her 30s filed suit saying her husband of less than a year had "close and intimate" associations with the New England Congresswoman.

She said this "attachment" had broken up their marriage.

UNFAIR LABOR CHARGE FILED

Union Says Bay Foundry Refuses Meetings

Striking employes of the Bay Foundry company, members of Local No. 902 UAW-CIO, have "filed charges with the National Labor Board alleging unfair labor practices by the company," and have unanimously decided to continue the strike, it was announced today by John Gorenchan, president of Local 902.

In a statement prepared by Gorenchan and Ora Fox of Muskegon, international representative of the UAW-CIO, it was also charged that efforts to arrange meetings to negotiate the dispute "have not been successful because of the refusal of the company to meet." The union issued the following statement:

"On Saturday, March 12, Local No. 902 voted to take strike action against the Bay Foundry company because the company cut the wages of the workers 10 percent on March 10th. This action was taken after thoroughly considering the financial difficulties of the company. The 10 percent cut in wages was in addition to substantial reductions in take home pay forced on the workers recently by the company, which when all added together was too much for the workers to bear. The company would make slight changes in the pattern for a job and then make drastic reductions in the piece work rate.

"Just prior to the strike the union was attempting to arrange for negotiations with the company on the problems of the piece rate workers and several grievances alleging serious contract violations on the part of the company. These grievances, however, could be settled by arbitration provided for under the terms of the contract between the company and the union, in the event they are not settled through negotiations, while the wage dispute can only be settled through negotiations.

"Since the strike, efforts of the union to arrange meetings for the purpose of negotiating on the matters in dispute have not been successful because of refusals by the company to meet. The union has filed charges with the National Labor Relations Board alleging unfair labor practices by the company.

"Unfortunately the workers have not been able to quit jobs which have such bad working conditions without faceing the possibility of losing their Unemployment Insurance credits, because of the present Unemployment Insurance Law in this state.

"The company has refused to pay their employees for the last week they worked, however, the union will take the necessary legal steps to collect the wages due the workers.

"This strike has the approval and full support of the International Union UAW-CIO and also the full support of all organized labor in the community, namely, the Delta County CIO Council and the Delta County Trades and Labor Council."

Postage Stamp War Is Waged in Berlin

Berlin, Germany, (AP)—Divided Berlin, Thursday was caught in an east-west postage stamp war which, in effect, made every man his own letter carrier.

Post offices in Berlin's three western sectors were refusing to accept mail which did not bear stamps of western issue.

Post offices in Berlin's Russian sector continued their policy of rejecting any mail which did not bear stamps issued in the Russian occupation zone.

Thus a western Berliner who wants to mail a letter to eastern Berlin or a city in the Soviet occupation zone has to cross the border into the Russian sector, buy an eastern stamp and deposit his letter there.

The others are: (2) ride near the curb; (3) stop before entering streets; (4) obey traffic rules; (5) keep safe distance from other cars; (6) don't "hitch ride"; (7) be alert; (8) watch for turning cars; (9) wear something white at night; (10) special caution for rainy days; (11) know motorist's signals; and (12) know bicyclist's signals.

U. P. Aviation Group To Hear W-C Plans At Iron Mountain Meeting

Francis M. Higgins, of Madison, president of Wisconsin Central Airlines, is scheduled to outline his company's plans for starting air passenger, mail and express service in the Upper Peninsula at a U. P. aviation conference in Iron Mountain Tuesday, April 12.

The purpose of the meeting, called by Robert G. Murphy, of Menominee, chairman of the U. P. Air Transportation committee, is to discuss airport facilities at U. P. cities for which Wisconsin Central servce is planned. W-C is scheduled to extend its service to the U. P. June 1.

The meeting will be a follow-up to a conference held in Iron Mountain last November when the U. P. Air Transportation committee was formed and charged with the task of expediting inauguration of air mail service in the Upper Peninsula.

U. P. cities concerned are Escanaba, Menominee-Marinette, Iron Mountain, Houghton-Hancock Marquette and Ironwood.

It is hoped to determine at the April 12 meeting how soon adequate airport facilities will be available to qualify U. P. cities for W-C airline service under CAA regulations.

Work of extending Escanaba's north-south runway to 3,800 feet, which would qualify the local airport, is expected to be completed this spring. Clearing, grading and graveling was completed last fall, and a 75-feet center strip the full length of the new runway will be hard surfaced as soon as possible this spring.

Wisconsin Central ended its first year of operation with a net loss of $37,421, it was reported yesterday.

The company is looking forward to improved operations this year, particularly with completion of installation of radio facilities at all present stations. These facilities will enable the line to convert to instrument flying within the next few weeks.

Providing additional financing can be arranged to procure more planes, station installations and other capital outlays, Wisconsin Central plans to begin service to additional cities on its feeder line system this year. The company now is serving 22 cities at 16 airports.

Milwaukee Boy Faces Trial For Killing Girl

denied he had signed it.

Babich and Kathleen were on the third day of their honeymoon, March 21, when Patricia's body was found by firemen who were dragging the Milwaukee river for a suicide victim.

The pretty, suburban West Allis high school girl had been shot twice through the head and a concrete building block was tied to her feet.

The statement released by McCauley gave this version of the slaying:

Babich picked Patricia up at a West Allis intersection the afternoon of Feb. 10. He drove to a secluded spot, and told the girl he "wished she would stop making all those remarks" about Kathleen's pregnancy.

Patricia started laughing, Babich placed a .22 calibre pistol he had purchased "ten days or two weeks" earlier" on the seat between them and said, "Pat, we don't want you to do that."

The statement continued that Patricia laughed again and picked up the gun by the barrel. Babich said he grabbed for it, his finger hit the trigger and it went off.

Tied Block To Feet

McCauley said he asked Babich why the second shot was fired and the youth replied he didn't know the first shot was fatal.

Babich was quoted by the district attorney as saying he had hoped sight of the gun would frighten Patricia into not disclosing anything more or making any more remarks about her sister's pregnancy.

After the shooting, the statement added, Babich drove to a house under construction and procured a building block. Then he drove to the river, and tied the block to Patricia's feet with shirt and wire scraps.

He dragged the body to the river and dropped it in.

He returned home at 7:45 p. m. and fifteen minutes later got a call from Kathleen that Patricia was missing. He went at once to the Birmingham home and remained there until 2 a. m. "aiding in the search."

Babich and Kathleen eloped to Kalamazoo, Mich., where he said they were married March 18. They were found last Wednesday at Minneapolis and returned here the following day.

Marquette Parolee Escapes In Detroit Hotel Holdup Quiz

Detroit, March 28 (AP)—The elevator operator at police headquarters recognized the prisoner he was taking down from the ninth floor last night. He asked the man where he was going.

"I'm going out for a drink, but don't tell anybody about it," answered George J. George, 34-year-old ex-convict being held as a police witness in connection with a hotel holdup.

The operator didn't tell anyone, thinking George must have been released. The prisoner strolled through headquarters lobby and out the main door to freedom.

Red-faced police who began a search for George puzzled as to how he managed to unlock two doors—one leading from his ninth floor cell block to the visitors room and the other into the building corridor.

They theorized he must have picked up a master key during the confusion of Sunday visitors hours.

George was on parole from Marquette state prison when he was arrested Feb. 8. He was permitted considerable freedom in his cell-block because he gave police information in the $1,500 hotel robbery.

TOP DOG

Chicago, March 28 (AP)—A seven-year-old Irish setter was adjudged champion last night of the International Kennel Club's Ninth Annual All-Breed Dog Show. The winner, Charles River Color Sergeant, is owned by Mrs. Frank Cory of suburban Arlington Heights. Before winning the show's top award, the dog had been chosen as best of its breed and the sporting group.

U. P. Forest Officials Studying Methods Of Fighting Large Fires

Organization of fire fighting personnel and equipment to combat large scale fires—100 acres or more in the initial stage—is the purpose of a meeting being conducted at the Mormon creek camp today, tomorrow and Wednesday by the United States Forest Service's Escanaba office.

The Escanaba office is responsible for the Upper Michigan National forest, which includes the Hiawatha and Marquette National forests. Its supervisor is Paul Wohlen, who is assisted by George Young, assistant supervisor; Arthur O. Schafer and Ray W. Knudson, staff assistants, and Frank Raack, administrative assistant.

Meeting at the Mormon creek camp four miles north of US-2 on Forest Highway 13, U. S. Forest Service and Michigan conservation department personnel, officials of Mead corporation, Munising Paper company and Manistique Paper company and U. S. Department of Agriculture employes are studying large-scale fire fighting methods.

Effective Employment

The most effective employment of available heavy equipment and personnel of the forest service, state conservation department and paper companies is the goal of the meeting.

"Fortunately most forest fires during the fire danger season are those that can be handled by the ranger in charge, guards and other personnel working with him in a specific area," it was explained by Forest Service officials.

"But occasionally a large scale fire breaks out that requires the full cooperation of all persons and groups concerned with the protection of our forests. This meeting is aimed toward complete organization of all available help to fight such a fire in the Upper Michigan National Forest most effectively.

Lookouts in the U. P. forest will be manned about April 1 and thereon throughout the fire danger season until further notice, it was announced.

Navy's New Rocket May Unravel More Mysteries of Space

Baltimore, March 28 (AP)—The Navy will soon be reaching into the ionosphere with a rocket of its own to try to unravel some of the mysteries of space.

The Glenn L. Martin Co., in its annual report, disclosed today it is developing a new rocket, called the "Viking," with which the Navy hopes to reach 200 miles into the upper atmosphere. The report added the rocket was primarily a research instrument and not a weapon.

The makeup of the Ionosphere —an upper layer of the earth's atmosphere—has long intrigued researchers. It is this layer, science believes, that deflects radio waves back toward earth.

The Navy declined to say when the tests will be made. It said only that most information about the rocket is still restricted.

If the "Viking" attains 200 miles it will be a new record height for a single rocket. The present known height record for such a missile is 114 miles, made by a German V-2 rocket over White Sands, N. Mex.

A two-staged rocket, the so-called WAC corporal, reached a height of 250 miles at White Sands last month. The WAC corporal was carried part way by a V-2.

Fond du Lac Boy, 12, Admits Killing Baby

Fond du Lac, Wis., March 28 (AP) —District Attorney Jerald Murphy said yesterday that a 12-year-old boy has admitted he killed Michael Strobel, 2, by strangling last Wednesday.

Murphy said the boy, a relative to Michael, sobbingly related that he choked the child by twisting a belt around his neck and dangling him above the floor until the body became limp.

It all happened, police said the boy explained, because he had bumped his head as he tussled with Michael to get him into bed and "when I bump my head it makes me mad." (Wisconsin law forbids use of the name of a juvenile charged with a law violation.)

Patronage Scrap Jolts Williams Plans In Lansing

as their price on Stanchfield's confirmation the governor's approval of three liquor licenses for each or two licenses and a job—presumably to be passed out among their supporters.

The Democrats denied the charge vehemently and Williams was refusing to specify what they demanded, although he admitted they wanted the thing for their votes which he could not "in all conscience" concede.

Lashing From CIO

Williams returned to the capitol today to map strategy with his advisers. Obviously, he disliked the prospect of being "rescued" by the Republicans and at the same time he wanted to see Stanchfield approved by the Senate.

Williams' labor supporters, including Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, gave the nine rebel Democrats an unprecedented public dressing down over the weekend for their betrayal of the labor-Democratic cause.

The Detroit-area senators attended CIO meetings over the weekend to receive a tongue-lashing from labor chiefs for differing with Williams.

Some of them reportedly came out of the closed sessions with a shamed-faced air, while others still were defiant.

Several of them have indicated privately that they did not care what the CIO thought of their actions, that they were elected without CIO cupport, that the CIO ran unsuccessful opposition candidates against them and that they did not need to worry about the Reuther - Scholle - Williams condemnation.

Political Ammunition

G. O. P. leaders were happy and thoughtful at the political implications which would result if the Republican-dominated Senate confirmed Stanchfield, irrespective of what the minority Democrats wanted.

The Democrats had expected to use Republican opposition to Stanchfield as a weapon against the G. O. P. in the close-approaching spring election.

While the Stanchfield row occupied the legislative center of interest as the week opened, the session's pace was speeding.

The House planned a public hearing tomorrow on a controversial bill permitting public accountants with 20 years of experience to qualify for certified public accountant licenses, and then the following day will return to a battle over repealing the 12-year-old secret primary law.

The senate expected early debate to be resumed on the Hittle bill to restrict "chiselers" in the auto financing field.

The Senate state affairs commitee reported it hoped to complete action on one of three revisions of the corrections law, presumably the plan approved by the G. O. P. policy committee for a three-man working commission to direct the department.

Cub Scout Group May Be Organized In Hermansville

Hermansville, March 28—Parents of Hermansville boys nine to 11 years old will meet at the Hermansville high school at 7:30 tomorrow evening to plan organization of a Cub Scout group.

Ed Kot, Boy Scout executive from Escanaba, will be in charge. A survey of interested youths has already been made, and the response has been encouraging.

If sufficient interest is shown at the Tuesday meeting, application for a Cub Scout unit will be filed. A Boy Scout troop for boys 12 to 15 has been active in Hermansville for six years, and a senior unit for boys over 15 was active for a few years and is being revived.

Gas Bombs Tossed Among Pickets At Cleveland Factory

Cleveland, March 28 (AP)—Police tossed tear gas bombs into a fighting throng of pickets and non-strikers at Fawick Airflex Co. today in the most violent skirmish of a 21-day strike.

One picket was arrested and two workers were cut by glass during a 10-minute fight.

Ten mounted patrolmen, 25 deputy sheriffs and six patrolmen joined the engagement between about 150 pickets and some 50 workers trying to get into the plant.

Tear gas and charges by mounted police finally dispersed the crowd.

The strike by Local 735 of the CIO-United Electrical Workers started at Fawick March 7 after the firm withdrew recognition because leaders failed to sign non-Communist affidavits as required by the Taft-Hartley law.

Probate Judge Irks Menominee Lawyers With Free Advice

Menominee, Mich., March 28 (AP)—The Menominee County Bar Association filed in Circuit Court today a petition asking that a probate judge be restrained from giving free legal advice to persons having matters in her court.

The jurist named by the association's committee on unauthorized practice was Katherine Stiles Laughton. The bill of complaint charges Judge Laughton with "usurping and encroaching upon the property rights of the individual plaintiffs and other attorneys practicing in the probate court."

Controlled Swimming Area Planned Here

THE city recreation board last week inspected the Shiras pool at Marquette in a quest for ideas that may be incorporated in the beach development program at Ludington park. Specifically the board is interested in the possibility of providing an area protected from a rolling surf where swimming classes would be effectively conducted.

The tentative plan is to establish a pool on the island for controlled swimming, provided this can be accomplished with a minimum of expense. Swimming classes at Escanaba beaches in past years have failed to reach maximum results because of wave action which severely complicates the instruction program and discourages youngsters who have not yet learned how to handle themselves in the water.

The general idea has already been approved by the city planning commission and the city administration. Details and engineering plans have not yet been worked out, however.

It is recognized that the controlled swimming area can be realized only if construction and maintenance costs are reasonable. Preliminary estimates indicate that there is definite cause for optimism.

The Shiras pool at Marquette is a development on a large scale of what is desired here on a small scale. In Marquette the pool is used for general swimming purposes, accommodating as many as 3,000 persons in a single day. That is unnecessary in Escanaba, however, because the swimming conditions at the local municipal beach are much more satisfactory than Lake Superior provides for residents of Marquette. The Shiras pool is larger than a square city block in area. The Escanaba pool would probably not exceed 125 feet in length and perhaps 30 feet in width.

Potter Opposed Vets Pension

AMONG the outspoken opponents of the Rankin bill to provide pensions for veterans is Rep. Charles E. Potter, congressman from the Eleventh district, which includes Delta county and the entire eastern part of the Upper Peninsula as well as the extreme north counties of the Lower Peninsula.

Rep. Potter voted to recommit the Rankin bill when it was before the house last week. He said further that he would do the same again if the pension proposal comes before the house again in another form.

The Eleventh district congressman can speak with greatest candor on this issue. He is himself a veteran of World War II, a patriot who lost both legs in the military service of the United States.

Rep. Potter's position on veterans legislation has long been well known. He believes in fair treatment for veterans but he is sincerely opposed to the so-called mercenary aspects of veterans legislation. In other words, he does not believe in the principle of a price tag on a soldier's service in defense of his country. The viewpoint, we believe, is one that makes very good common sense.

Ratification Of Pact Is Likely

A PRELIMINARY poll of senators indicates that the North Atlantic Treaty has a good chance of senate approval. Of the 93 members questioned, 55 said that they favored the principle of the pact, 37 were undecided, and one was opposed. The 55—nine less than the two-thirds majority needed for approval—included 16 Republicans and 14 senators from the Deep South.

So it seems that the bipartisan foreign policy is still operating, at least in this particular matter. The Republican-Southern Democratic coalition apparently will confine itself once more to domestic matters.

Approval of principle, however, does not mean that the senate's OK of the pact will be a perfunctory formality. Nor does it mean that partisan differences will not arise during the treaty debate, even though there is a likelihood that the debate will not be used as an instrument of partisan maneuvering.

There are senators who probably will balk at carrying out the real meaning of Article 3, even though they vote approval of the whole treaty. That is the section in which the parties to the treaty agree that, "by means of continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid, (they) will maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack."

The self-help that the European signatories can provide will consist mainly of manpower for their armed forces. The mutual aid of those signatories will be confined largely to manpower and, in some cases, air bases. The bulk of armaments for Europe will have to come from the United States.

This will mean more expense for the American government, and perhaps higher taxes for its citizens. It will mean doing in peace what we have twice done while Europe was at war. An alliance with European countries will be a bold and untraditional step for the United States to take. A peace-time lend-lease program will be even bolder.

When the proposed defense treaty was first discussed in the senate last month, it was evident that some members were hesitant about these steps. There was talk of "moral commitments" to war, of our lack of responsibility for "disagreements that might grow up in the countries of Europe," and of "obligations that we do not intend to fulfill."

Axis Sally Gets 10 Year Sentence

MILDRED GILLARS, "Axis Sally" of the wartime Nazi radio programs beamed to Allied troops, has been sentenced to 10 to 30 years in federal prison for treason, fined $10,000 and required to forfeit her American citizenship. Only the most unrealistic sentimentalists will contend that justice has not been served in this case.

On the occasion of her sentencing, Miss Gillars expressed bewilderment of her conviction. Why she should be surprised is difficult to comprehend. All of her activities on behalf of the Nazis during the war put her completely on the side of the enemies of her countrymen. Her broadcasts were designed to spread doubt and confusion in the minds of American troops of the justification of the American war effort. They were designed to create fear, too.

Miss Gillars was handsomely paid by the Nazis for selling out her country. The evidence shows far beyond any reasonable doubt that she wilfully betrayed her country in time of war for pecuniary gain. That she should be excused for her crime, as apparently she now feels that she should, is beyond all realm of reason.

Millions of Americans fought for their country in World War II and over 250,000 forfeited their lives in that struggle for freedom. Miss Gillars is one who thought so little of her citizenship that she was willing, even eager, to betray it.

Perhaps she fails to realize it, but she can be extremely grateful that she escaped more serious punishment for a crime that is the most reprehensible in American jurisprudence.

GOLDEN (GOOSE) EGGS

(Detroit News)

Among other kinds of new taxes the boys at Lansing are discussing is a flat rate income tax on corporations.

The idea has a siren's appeal. To the extent that the tax would be passed on to consumers, a lot of it would be paid by residents of other states. To have Michigan's government paid for by Ohioans, Californians or—for that matter Samoans—sounds like the millennium.

Most of these millenial ideas have a catch in them, however. Suppose the Samoans took an ugly attitude about paying our taxes. Suppose they developed a preference for buying automobiles or toothpaste made where such taxes are not added to the price.

Or suppose the Michigan manufacturers themselves tired of paying the tax and began looking around for greener pastures. Puerto Rico and some of the southern states are openly in the pasture business, offering outright tax exemption for a period to manufacturers who will move there.

Let us, before rushing with glad cries to smack on a corporation tax, give close and serious study to the fable about the goose that laid the golden eggs.

TRUMAN PICTURES

(Editor & Publisher)

It would seem that the Key West picture incident was pretty much of a snafu with everyone concerned acting hastily and with bad judgment.

The photographer took pictures from a navy blimp of the president on the bathing beach in violation of established White House custom of "no unauthorized pictures," even though it was done with the permission of navy officers.

Presidential Press Secretary Charley Ross hastily ordered the pictures confiscated and said they wouldn't be published. The photographers preferred to destroy them on the spot rather than turn them over to the secret service or the navy.

Later it developed that some arrangement might have been worked out to process the pictures and clear them for publication. But in the heat of the controversy, confusion and misunderstanding reigned.

It must be pretty hot down in Key West.

Take My Word For It . . Frank Colby

SOME MISPRONUNCIATIONS RECENTLY NOTED ON RADIO

Heard on a radio drama: "A nobleman of dignity and gran-doo-er." The word used is grandeur, "imposing greatness; exalted rank." The word was used correctly, but the pronunciation has no sanction. The "d" of grandeur should be palitized to "j," as it is in soldier, cordial, gradual (see paragraph 249, page liii, Pronunciation Section in the fore part of Webster's New International). Correct pronunciation: GRAN-jurr; or: GRAN-joor.

Heard on a sports broadcast: "He's one of the nation's outstanding ath-uh-letes." One of the hardest-to-put-down faults is the extra and erroneous syllable in athlete, athletic, and athletics. To avoid the obtrusive "uh" sound between "th" and the following "l," blend "the" and "l" together as rapidly and smoothly as your tongue will permit. You may find it difficult at first, but it will become easy with a little practice. Say: ATH-leet; ath-LET-ik; ath-LET-iks.

Heard on the Town Meeting (Clifton Fadiman): "pross-ess-eez" for the word processes. The erroneous "eez" in the third syllable has no sanction whatever. It is the result of confusing process with such Latin-Greek words as anlysis, parenthesis, thesis, crisis.

Such words do not form the plurals by adding -es. They simply change -is to -es, thus: analysis, analyses; parenthesis, parentheses; thesis, theses; crisis, crises. In the plurals of such words the -es does have the sound of "eez," as KRY-seez for the plural crises.

But process does not end in -is. The plural is formed by adding an extra -es syllable, thus: proc-ess, proc-ess-es. And the correct pronunciation, of course, is PROSS-ess-ezz, the last syllable as in faces, successes, laces, etc.

Now the question naturally arises: If "eez" is correct for the -es of crises, why isn't it also correct in proc-ess-es?

Here is the answer: If the -es of crises were not pronounced "eez," it would be extremely hard to distinguish the singular crisis from the plural crises. But when we say KRY-siss for crisis and KRY-seez for crises, we can easily tell the singular word from the plural form. This is not necessary in such words as process, for the plural is formed by adding an -es syllable. Therefore, proc-ess and proc-ess-es cannot possibly be confused.

Roberts Plan Has Critics

By PETER EDSON

Washington (NEA)—Ex-Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts' newly announced "Atlantic Union Committee for a Federal Convention of Democracies" will probably meet with considerable opposition from isolationists and old America Firsters. What the Roberts Committee seeks ultimately is a central government for world democracies within the United Nations. This new world government would have a single citizenship, with its own legislative, executive and judicial systems, its own defense forces, money, customs and postal systems.

It will be argued that if the 60-odd countries of the world cannot now run a successful United Nations organization it is hopeless to expect that they could get along under a central government as a federal union of states. But this very idea has been growing for a long time and "We feel that now is the critical time to launch this movement for a federal union of nations that sign the Atlantic Pact," says Justine Roberts.

"An idea of this kind can't get any place until it is a political issue," Justice Roberts continues. "Now, with the text of the Atlantic Pact announced, it is a political issue. I have been committed to this idea for eight years, but I have been holding back on it until people could begin to say 'My senator is for it,' 'My congressman is against it,' and they could begin arguing about it. That is exactly what we want. We want people to talk about federal union."

HAS INTERESTING HISTORY

The growth of this movement which Justice Roberts now heads up as president of the Atlantic Union Committee is interesting to trace. Since World War II there have been a number of similar movements like R. L. Whitehouse's "World Republic", Robert K. Hitchins "Federal Republic of the World," Cord Meyer Jr.'s "United World Federalists," Ely Culbertson's "Citizens Committee for United Nations Reform," and others.

Antedating all these is Clarence K. Streit's "Union Now" and his original proposal for a world "Bill of Human Rights." Both were considered somewhat Utopian if not downright crackpot when they were first presented in France in 1938. Streit for 10 years before had been a correspondent covering the League of Nations. He saw first hand the old League's failures and weaknesses.

Last year a Declaration of Human Rights was adopted by a majority of the United Nations, and an eminently respectable committee of citizens headed by Justice Roberts, former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson and former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton have today practically adopted his "Union Now."

Last Jan. 23 Roberts, Patterson and Clayton called their first meeting at the Wendell Willkie memorial Freedom House in New York. With them were Streit, Hugh Moore of Americans United for World Organization, Herbert Agar of the Fight for Freedom Committee, publisher Gardner Cowles, pollster Elmo Roper and Waldon Moore, secretary, formerly with U. S. military government in Germany. These nine chipped in the original seed fund to set up their Atlantic Union Committee, now grown to 18 directors and a council of nearly 100 public-spirited citizens. Earl E. Hart of Cleveland formerly secretary to Justice Harold Burton and Harold Stassen, has been named executive director.

ACTIVITY EXPECTED SOON

Within the near future the committee will conduct a drive for membership and for funds to keep up its agitation for a Federal Union of Democracies until it becomes an established fact.

The Roberts Committee is aiming to achieve this goal by easy stages. It has set no year when it thinks world government can be achieved. First step will be to build up public support for ratification of the North Atlantic Pact.

Justice Roberts admits that mere discussion of the subject may be all that can be accompanied at this session of Congress. "Whether we could get action this year is still on the knees of the gods," he says.

There will be many charges that this proposal will make America surrender her sovereignty. "The United States can't yield any of its sovereignty," says Justice Roberts. "We would have to amend our Constitution before we could yield sovereignty. And anything the first conference of nations might recommend would have to be sent back to the people for ratification.

"Even if this conference should decide that a federal union could not be formed at this time, there would be a gain in having the United States take the lead in asking the other democracies to discuss the subject."

'The Winnah!'

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

SPRING ELECTION—"Who do we vote on in this spring election?" asked a friend of mine. We'll change the query to: "What offices are at stake in the election of April 4? And is it important that I vote?"

Dunathan

We'll answer the latter question first with an emphatic "yes!" It's important that you vote in any election. Therefore it is important that you vote in the biennial spring election, probably more so because so many people seem to rank the state spring election along with such minor obligations as seeing your dentist twice a year and signaling for left turns.

There are several reasons why you should vote on April 4, not the least of which is the very good feeling it will give you down deep in your center of citizenship—your heart. Good citizenship has its obligations, and it also has its rewards.

FIVE OFFICES—There are five offices to be voted on in the coming election—just one week from today. On that day the voters of Michigan will elect:

A state highway commissioner, a superintendent of public instruction, two regents of the University of Michigan, two members of the state board of agriculture, and one member of the state board of education.

REPRESENTATIVE—Highways, agriculture, and education are important to the people of Michigan. In the coming election the voters will select the officers to head the departments under which these three services are administered.

* * *

FOUR TICKETS—The ballot for the biennial spring election will have a full slate of candidates on four tickets—Republican, Democratic, Progressive Party, and the Prohibition Ticket.

WHY IN SPRING?—Perhaps much of the lack of interest in the spring biennial election is caused by holding the election in April rather than in November, when other state officers are elected.

Former Gov. Harry F. Kelly, in Escanaba recently, explained that many years ago leaders in Michigan government decided that affairs of education, highways and agriculture were separate from the usual political campaigns. They were too important to be thrown in with the general political scramble, and should be given special consideration by the people in a separate election.

Yet it hasn't worked out that way. In Michigan last November (a presidential election) over 2,000,000 votes were cast. In the spring election—when officials to head the important departments of education, highways and agriculture are elected—the number of votes cast range from 400,000 to 600,000.

For this reason it is important that voters be conscientious in exercising their right of franchise in the spring election. Failure to do so leaves the way open for a minority faction to swing the election.

ADMINISTRATIVE—Two of the state officers to be elected next Monday—the state highway commissioner and the superintendent of public instruction—are members of the state administrative board.

This board, created in 1921, controls state purchasing, and is "empowered to employ and fix the compensation of such agents and assistants as may be necessary;" and exercise "general supervisory control over the functions and activities of all administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers of the state, and of all state institutions."

On this board are the governor, who is chairman, the lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, state treasurer, auditor general, superintendent of public instruction, and state highway commissioner.

IN THE TOWNSHIPS—At the biennial spring election voters in the townships of Michigan's 83 counties will elect for two years the following township officers:

Supervisor, clerk, treasurer, members of the board of review, justices of the peace, and constable. Some will elect road commissioners.

The supervisors represent the townships on the county boards of supervisors, a body important to the efficient functioning of county government.

NON-PARTISAN—There is also a state-wide non-partisan ballot upon which the voters will find the names of four candidates for the Michigan supreme court. Of these four, the two receiving the largest number of votes will be elected.

* * *

JUST VOTE—Last, but not least, is the same old reminder, voiced by all of the parties and all of the candidates: Get out and vote on April 4.

Roving Reporter

By Hal Boyle

North Bergen, N. J., (AP)—The British labor government's most successful post-war export to America goes back home this week.

She's a new kind of diplomat—Ada Fishburn, a 24-year-old factory girl, daughter of a coal miner.

Hal Boyle

We've had her here on a one-month swap for an American girl who traded jobs with her for that period. The idea of the American girl was that an exchange of factory workers would help international understanding.

And it has worked with Ada, the first British girl to come.

"Ask me to come back again and I won't say 'no.' " she said.

But unswayed by America's luxurious indoor bathtub and its robust outdoor manhood, she is returning content to the land and the lad she left behind her.

The land is the mine-pitted county of Durham near the Scottish border. And the lad is Ronnie Lancaster, her boy friend for many months. She said he wrote "and said he missed me."

Not Spoiled Yet

It would have been very easy for Ada, a girl who never had been away from home overnight, to have lost her head. She got a 24-karat welcome. She worked days at her factory job, but her nights have been a round of glamorous entertainment.

She has seen Manhattan from the deepest subway— "not so clean as our tubes in London, oh, they're beautiful in London"—to the peak of the Empire State Building. "That was a sight."

She has been in an exclusive night club in New York . . . so excited she didn't eat a bite . . . tasted spinach for the first time in her life . . . and couldn't stomach it . . . it "tasted strong."

She has met some political leaders . . . gone to two wrestling exhibitions (they impressed her more) . . . had her hair done by a ritzy Fifth Avenue salon and liked it less than her own $4 permanent . . . spoken on the radio eight or nine times.

All this has puzzled her some, but unsettled her not at all.

"I am not sophisticated," she said. "I am an ordinary factory girl . . . a lucky one."

"England never sent us a better ambassador," said her boss, Walter Simpson, president of the Duro Test Corp. "She hasn't become spoiled in the least by her reception."

Much To Tell Mom

One reason is the unshakable personal dignity of this small, blue-eyed, fair-haired girl. She has enjoyed her Cinderella role and is reconciled to the fact that midnight always strikes for Cinderella.

"I have so much to tell me mom," she said.

Ada got $40 a week here compared to $15 at home. She is a top worker and had no difficulty keeping pace in an American factory. But she isn't sure whether the higher salary here meant she could live better"

Ada will leave something behind her, take something with her when she goes—a fair and fine exchange in human understanding between ordinary people working in peace.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—This column probably will be greeted by Izvestia and Pravda with screams of "warmonger!"; while some people in this country won't like it, either.

However, here are some of the European trouble-signs the American people should keep a weather-eye on at a period when the Soviet Union is more than ever on the spot.

With the conclusion of the North Atlantic Pact, two divergent reports reach Washington as to what the Soviet will do to checkmate the new alliance:

1. Foreign Minister Vishinsky will come to the U. N. meeting in New York to wage a new peace offensive aimed at making the United States appear to be belligerent and the Soviet a peace-lover. The American embassy in Moscow is convinced this will happen.

2. After insincerely waving the alleged olive branch, the Red army will then march into one of the North Atlantic pact countries—probably Norway—in a move to break down the alliance before it has time to become strongly cemented. This could mean war this year.

Moscow of course would avoid the outward appearance of an invasion. A Communist government would be set up by a minority of Norwegians in the northern part of the country, which would call upon Moscow for aid. Thus the Red army would have an excuse to march in.

Or again, the same thing might happen in Iran.

No matter what the country, the Soviet is almost certain to make a major test of western strength this year, and the unpleasant fact has to be faced that this could lead to war.

MOSCOW'S VIEWPOINT

Meanwhile some strategists in the defense department believe the scales are so delicately tipped that there is greater danger of war than any time since Dec. 7, 1941.

Two main factors are behind this pessimistic conclusion:

A.) With completion of the North Atlantic Pact, two lines of fortifications will extend across Europe—the armies of the west on one side, the armies of the east on the other. Eventually they may clash. Therefore, it might be better from Russia's point of view to precipitate the clash before the western line is organized and fortified.

B.) The Politburo considers its main weapons to be people—plus the psychological and political practices that influence people. Recently the people of Western Europe have been slipping from Moscow's grasp. Therefore if war is going to come eventually, from Moscow's point of view, it had better come now than later.

Meanwhile the Russians have already built their line of defense across Europe. Running from the Baltic to the Balkans is a series of Red army concentrations, munition dumps and air bases. Another line farther east, running from Vilna to Kiev, marks the beginning of Russian munitions factories. And important factories are being moved east of that line to further escape the range of rallied bombers.

Opposite the first Soviet line, Moscow now knows that the North Atlantic Pact countries plan to build up a new Maginot line, consisting of 35 European divisions armed with U. S. weapons. France is to organize 14 divisions, Great Britain 6, Italy 5, Belgium 3, Norway 2, Holland 2, with one each for Luxembourg, Denmark and Portugal.

These 35 divisions, standing on the Rhine, will take about three years to equip and organize. After they are organized, the Russians know that crossing the Rhine will not be the relatively easy job it probably would be today.

THE ATOM BOMB

The chief factor which should deter Russia from war is, of course, the atom bomb. We have it and the Russians haven't. However, they may argue—with some truth—that the United States would never drop the atom bomb in Paris, London, Rome, Oslo, Copenhagen. And once Red troops moved into those cities, it would take years to pry them out. Meanwhile, bombing the great open spaces of Russia is difficult. They are a long way off and Russian cities are spaced few and far between. Next to Africa and Australia, the atom bomb would be least effective on Russia.

But regardless of these pros-and-cons, it remains a fact that 15 divisions out of the 22 which the Red army has maintained in Siberia have recently been moved back toward Europe. It is a further fact that the Czech bank in New York was closed the other day even though it was making money (Japan closed its banks here before Pearl Harbor); and that the Russian satellite countries are conducting an inventory of all military supplies in order to fix one central command for the armies of Poland, Finland, Bulgaria, Hungary, Hungary, Roumania, etc.

It also remains a fact that the Russians, being partly Oriental, are tremendously influenced by "fact" or prestige. When they lose face, they move to recoup it. When the U. S. A. took over Greece, Russia immediately moved to take over Hungary. When we scored other gains, she took over Czechoslovakia.

Today, U. S. troops are in Greece, just a few miles from the iron curtain, which is comparable to having Russian troops in Mexico. Norway's new alliance with the U. S. A. has the same effect on Russia as an alliance between Greenland and Russia would on us, while the U. S. military mission on the banks of the Bosphorus might be considered comparable to having a Russian mission at the Panama Canal.

It's necessary and important to look at the matter through Russian eyes, because they are the ones who will finally decide whether to wait until the United States has built up its new Maginot line or to jump the gun this year.

All of which is not a pleasant prospect, and we hope it won't turn out this way. But in this world of hard-boiled realities there is no use playing ostrich.

If, on the other hand, the crucial year 1949 can be passed without war, then the odds will be increasingly strong for a long period of peace.

King Gustaf, 90, Finds Life Of King Too Public

Sweden's Monarch, vacationing at Nice on the French Riviera, watches a tennis match with one of his entourage. He doesn't enjoy being a spectacle; he'd rather be just another spectator.

By DAVID S. BOYER

Nice, France (NEA)—Living like a king isn't all it's cracked up to be.

Some kings—and Gustaf V of Sweden is one of them—would gladly trade places for a while with an ordinary citizen.

At age 90, King Gustaf, who is here soaking up Riviera sunshine on his annual vacation, makes no bones about the fact he'd like to slide into a porch chair without a doctor and nurse and half a dozen other assistants hovering around him. He'd like to go to a tennis match and be just a spectator, not something for the spectators to speculate about.

Speculation is in the minds of the thousands of Frenchmen and tourists in Nice who occasionally catch a glimpse of the all, gaunt titular head of the independent Swedish nation as he motors along the beach drive in his 12-cylinder Packard. Everyone is wondering how much longer this venerable old man, who still musters a smile and a royal wave for the crowd, will be able to maintain sufficient health for public appearances.

The king, meanwhile, coughs raspingly against the bronchial tickling in his throat, and recalls the days, not so many years ago, when he wasn't a tennis spectator, but a full-fledged participant. This is the first year in 41 consecutive visits to the Riviera (not including the war years) when he has not staged a vigorous show on a tennis court.

This year, the king, who was French-born and whose father came before him to the same Hotel d'Angleterre in Nice, is confining his activities to tea parties, knitting, motoring and bridge. Even for these pursuits, he is pursued.

More than 500 anxious people silently watched him step falteringly onto a royal carpet from his special railroad car on his arrival here. Each day, they watch with concern as he hobbles to his limousine, helped usually by his personal physician, Dr. Hjalmar Casserman, and bundled into a furry auto robe by his private nurse.

King Gustaf won't allow an escort to preceded him on his drives. He pretends not to notice the entourage of police, reporters and friends who drive after him.

Half a dozen of France's best secret service guards surround and follow him wherever he goes.

This is a vacation for the plainclothesmen, too, for the king only goes out for two hours a day. Jean Baldy, who has trailed important persons through France for 15 years, can remember the days before the war, however, when guarding King Gustaf was no vacation.

"We used to start early in the morning," he remembers, "and finish early in the morning. The king could stay with a party or over a Monte Carlo roulette wheel with the best of them. I've guarded Trotsky, the Duke and Wally, King Leopold, Boris of Bulgaria, the presidents of France, King Farouk and Madame Peron. None of them could hold a candle to Gustaf."

NEW GADGETS MAY APPEAR

Buyers' Chill To Bring Them On Market

Pittsburgh, (NEA)—Now that the consumer has satisfied his most pressing wants—and taken some of the pressure off manufacturers—we are going to begin seeing some really "postwar" gadgets.

Television, of course, has come along since the war. But it can hardly be called "post-war." There is nothing radically different between TV sets now on the market ond those that the industry could have made in 1940 or 1941.

All that has happened, really, is that the pre-war television has had a bit of face-lifting—millions have been invested in telecasting facilities and in deficit operation — receivers have been mass-produced, and sold to a war-prosperous public, at lowered cost and more attractive prices.

Automobiles, within the past few months, have reacted to the fast-approaching buyers' market. That is why, for the first time, it is possible to get from old-line manufacturers a car that is really new—a car that is not merely the 1941 model with a new dress.

In the household accessory field, likewise, up to now there has been nothing really new. Stores have featured things you couldn't get in 1941 or 1942, but they had actually been perfected then.

Suddenly, however, the pipelines have become filled with consumer goods. The mad rush to buy at any price has slowed down.

So any day now, out of the most secret laboratories of the manufacturers you will begin to get genuinely new gadgets—things that weren't more than dreams or hopes in 1941-42—improvements, sometimes, and often actually brand new departures.

The nation's electric power leaders were given a preview of some of these things at an off-the-record Power Forum sponsored by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

J. H. Ashbaugh, vice-president, described some of the gadgets his company, second largest producer of household appliances, is perfecting "in the room with the 'Keep Out' sign on the door."

The session was closed, and nothing was given out from it. Speaking more freely under such circumstances Ashbaugh told the power men:

"Tomorrow the American housewife will be offered a refrigerator that is completely automatic—which will need no controls—which will automatically defrost when the frost builds up to a predetermined amount, and do it so fast it won't even melt the ice cubes in the process.

"Tomorrow we may have a refrigerator so designed and controlled that it will hold fresh vegetables from three to six months.

"Tomorrow the housewife will be offered an electric range that will out-perform anything she ever dreamed of. This year, we can make biscuits in any part of the oven—an unheard-of thing. We have already built and successfully operated ranges with automatic surface cooking. You merely set the pan and contents on the range, and the range automatically controls the heat to do the cooking properly.

"And we have built ranges that cook with infra-red and high frequency.

"Surface elements will be made so fast that they will come up to red heat four times as fast as today's elements."

Convenience, automatic operation and glamour are the three things that the industry keeps in front of its eyes, Ashbaugh said. By improving on these, every time it seems as though the market for an appliance was sold out, a new one can be opened up.

The markets for many consumer items are lagging, so now, in almost every consumer field, the long delayed, post-war improvements are being hauled out.

The timarau, a ruminant related to the water buffalo, is the largest native mammal found in the Philippines.

SCHAAF QUITS FORESTRY JOB

Head Of Department To Retire March 31

Roscommon—Retirement from state service of Marcus Schaaf, chief of the forestry division of the conservation department, was officially announced to his colleagues at a surprise dinner held Friday evening at the Higgins lake training school.

Schaaf will leave his post March 31 under the regulation that employes must retire at the end of the month in which they become 70.

For 39 years Schaaf's full-time job and principal interest in life has been the reforestation of Michigan and the development of a sound land and forest policy. He was appointed state forester in 1910, under the old public domain commission, which means he is the only state forester Michigan ever has had.

Schaaf's successor will not be officially named until a later date. His chief assistant for years has been G. S. McIntire.

Universities Are Turning Out Most Teachers Nowadays

Lansing, (AP) — The teacher-training colleges trail Michigan's "big three" universities in producing new teachers, the state department of public instruction reported.

The department said Wayne University topped the list last year with 467 persons recommended for teaching certificates.

Michigan State college was next with 429 and the University of Michigan third with 417.

Western Michigan College of Education approved 383, Michigan State Normal college 372, Central Michigan College of Education 285 and Northern Michigan College of Education 96.

MICHIGAN'S DEER HERD

Two articles, written by archery enthusiasts, have charge me "with ignorance" regarding the condition of Michigan's deer herd. I may be excused if I make a reply to these charges.

Both of the writers, so far as I can understand their statements, have looked at only one aspect of the question involved. They see only the advantage to the archers which would accrue from an open season on does and fawns. We are not denying that a five weeks season on does and fawns would be an advantage to the archery enthusiasts. In fact that is just the point we have tried to make. It would give them a greater advantage than they are entitled to.

In my article I have the statement that deer are quite tame during the month of October. Therefore they are more easily taken. I challenge anyone who is acquainted with the woods to the woods to deny that statement. During September and October, the deer appear, nearly every evening before sundown in farmer's meadows, and on the shores of lakes and streams. If the archer cannot get his deer it is not because the deer do not cooperate. The deer are usually in plain view any evening.

Another point in my article was that the deer law should not so be written that it will discriminate for or against any group of sportsmen. Can anyone tell me why the archer should be entitled to roam the woods in search of does and fawns from October 1st until Nov. 5? If that isn't discrimination, then I do not know the meaning of the word. Webster tells us that the word "discriminate" means "to set apart". And that is exactly what the archers wish. They wish to be "set apart" as a special privileged class which shall have the right to kill does and fawns for five weeks of the year.

The third statement was that does and fawns should never be killed by either archery enthusiasts. To this the reply of one writer is that the does and fawns will die of starvation anyway. So why not kill them? I challenge the writer or anyone else to furnish proof that there is wholesale starvation of the deer herd in Delta County or in the U. P. There is starvation of deer in the lower peninsula, due to insufficient winter feed. But by his own admission the writer acknowledges that this situation is not rectified by the archer. And it will not be rectified until greater attention is paid to providing proper habitat for the deer. And unless I am misinformed it is the business of the Department of Conservation to seek to provide this habitat rather than to follow the practice now made of permitting every bit of available cover to be destroyed by the woodsman's axe. It is the business of the Department of Conservation to conserve forests and conserve game, that is their first job, not to provide greater means of limiting the available cover and the supply of game.

Don't Blame Merchant, Babson Says

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Park, Fla.,—We see much in the newspapers and picture magazines about snow in California, freezes in Texas, drought in Florida, and floods elsewhere. Readers then wonder why weather conditions do not have more effect on retail prices, either to raise or lower them.

Congressmen like to point to the fact that farm prices have declined, but there has been little decline in food prices. The reason is that the farmer gets only 15 per cent of the retail price under any conditions. Labor for picking and packing gets 25 per cent, and this has not come down, transportation—trucks and railroads—get 20 per cent and this is increasing; while retailers' rents, wages, waste and other expenses remain the same or are higher. Hence, consumers should not blame the retailers.

Canned And Frozen Products

When I was a boy in Gloucester, Massachusetts, I peddled vegetables for my grandfather. He made a specialty of beets. In those days, canned beets could not be purchased. Today much better beets can be purchased in cans and for less money. Why anyone buys stale beets from the stores when they can get truly "fresh" beets in a can! The development of the canning and freezing industry is another factor in the situation.

Having spent every summer of my life, excepting during World War I, in Gloucester, I know something about fish. Of course, the finest fish is what we, ourselves, catch, and fry by the side of the stream. Then only an hour elapses from the time the trout is in the water until it is in our stomach! Otherwise, I much prefer frozen or canned fish. It truly it "fresher" than anything you can get at a fish market. When I buy whole fish at a store, it is two or three days older than when I buy it frozen or in cans. Some fish, like sardines, which are seined near shore will be in cans within a few hours from the time they are caught. What price the fishermen get, however, is a small factor in the retail price. This is dependent upon labor costs, transportation costs, and rent costs all of which are surely going up.

Investments For Farmers

Often the farmers have asked me to recommend some investment for their loose money. When prices were low, I have suggested either the American Can Company, or General Foods which leads in the freezing industry and has a valuable distributing system. I also like merchandising stocks, especially those of established "5 and 10" cent stores, and the good grocery chains.

To my friends in Florida, who have never controlled their surplus crops, I am tempted to say "Sell your grove and re-invest at the right time in the United Fruit Company. This concern is now doing with bananas what you for thirty years have failed to do with oranges and grapefruit. It raises, packs, ships, transports and distributes bananas and hence can control the cost and price."

Small Merchant Opportunity

I believe in small sustenance farms, as insurance for people whose income is not dependent upon the land. But I cannot recommend a small farm as a business. Farming, ranching and fruit growing is becoming "big business" whether we like it or not. The present owners of small units will sell out or combine with larger units. Agriculture is going on a factory basis the same as the manufacture of shoes, shorts and bread.

There always will be an opportunity for the small merchant who will live over or near his store and open up before the big stores and keep open later at night. He cannot get rich or become a country-club member, but he can be free from labor worries and many other headaches. Hence, I am much interested in the Small Businessmen's association, which my friend Ernest Gault is fathering. This organization is not blaming either the growers or the retailers, but rather the railroads and the labor unions.

Clinic For Alcoholics Blames Wrong Thinking

New York—"The alcoholic is an alcoholic as a result of his wrong thinking, and no one is to blame for his habit except himself."

With this statement Edward J. McGoldrick, jr., director, summarized the philosophy behind operation of the Bureau of Alcoholic Therapy of the City Department of Welfare.

In his office at Bridge House, a three-story city - owned frame dwelling facing Bronx Zoo, Mr. McGoldrick said bureau workers attempt to instill in "residents" (they are never called patients) the "importance of thinking," and attempt to change "wrong patterns of thought."

Opposes 'Disease' Theory

Mr. McGoldrick opposes the theory widely held in the medical proffession that alcoholism is a disease. He employs no physicians at Bridge House, which has been in operation since 1944. All staff members are, like himself, former alcoholics.

"Granting the sincerity of the doctrine, it is hurting people its exponents seek to help," he declares. "It is an alibi. The alcoholic has been hard put to find a valid excuse for his drinking; now the doctors label it as sickness and this neat tag gives it a validity where before there was none.

"They seize upon it as a crutch and say, 'Don't blame me, Mom, I'm a sick guy.' It has intensified an already existing problem, because it encourages a person to avoid making an honest appraisal of himself. Those incapable of facing up to a situation will continue to drink."

66 Per Cent Are Benefited

Keynote of the Bridge House program is the theory that drinking is essentially an escape mechanism rather than a physical ailment.

The hope of the alcoholic is his ability to think clearly, Mr. McGoldrick believes. Working from this standpoint, approximately 66 per cent of the 350 men a year treated at the center remain sober for at least a year (beyound that time limit the center has no check on them). Repeaters are not accepted as a general rule.

The men do not pay for this rehabilitative work, regardless of their financial condition. They are referred to Bridge House by hospitals, the courts, welfare agencies and citizens who have heard about its work. First come, first served is the rule.

Professional Men

Its residents are not down-and-out refugees from the Bowery. They presently include a doctor, machanic, lawyer, engineer, newspaperman, artist, actor, cab driver, personnel director.

After they leave residence they come back for a schedule of instruction and study two or three times a week for about a year. Bridge House operates on a day-and-evening, seven-day week.

Basic to the Bridge House training program is the "mental diet for alcoholics"—17 "thought capsules" which residents are encouraged to make their own Among them are:

1. I know I must abstain from alcohol, not merely for the sake of others, but first and foremost for my own self-esteem. The solution of the problem rests primarily with me.

Drinking 'Pathetic'

2. I refuse to amuse others with m drinking escapades of the past. My abnormal drinking was pathetic, not funny.

3. An alcoholic is made, not born. Heredity, therefore, is not the cause of my drinking. Such an excuse is an age-old dodge to avoid the reality of seeing myself as I really am.

4. I know my drinking past has no power over me other than my present feeling about that past gives it.

5. I do not need alcohol. Others can do without it, so can I. Any person of average intelligence who is sincere and honestly exerts an effort over a reasonable length of time, can lead a life without alcohol.

Solves No Problems

6. I know from my own personal experience that drinking never solved a problem for me. As a matter of fact, it only made matters worse.

7. I realize that I must be absolutely sincere in my effort to overcome the habit of drinking, otherwise no one can help me.

8. I know that I have put a lot of effort and time into becoming an alcoholic. I know that were I to exert a similar effort and concentrate on doing so, I could successfully achieve that which I want to do, to be, or to have.

9. I realize that staying sober is of paramount importance in my life, and that one drink of any form of alcohol, including wine or beer, is sufficient to start me on a spree.

Daily Lectures

This mental diet is supplemented by daily private consultations, group lectures and examinations.

At Bridge House, emphasis is placed on a home- and club-like atmosphere. There is nothing institutional about it. It looks like just what it is, a reconverted old private home. On the three floors are offices, recreation rooms, laundry facilities, lecture room, dining room, and library.

Floors are polished, beds neatly and uniformly made, and the building is kept in good repair—this is part of the residents' occupational therapy.

The program is outgrowing the physical facilities. Applicants for residence now number 35 and normally run about 20 above the 20-man capacity of the house.

Larger Capacity Sought

Mr. McGoldrick would like to double the capacity of the center. Raymond M. Hilliard, Welfare Commissioner, is looking for a larger building with grounds for the bureau, he said.

The suggestion has been made that a woman's division similar to Bridge House be established in view of growing alcoholism among women. Mr. McGoldrick said he would prefer not to direct it.

In the past five years only five men have been asked to leave because they violated the honor system and drank at the nearest bar, two blocks away.

ONE FOR THE BOOK — Fan dancer Sally Rand chews thoughtfully on a pencil in New York as she tells newsmen her new book, "How to Be a Good Girl in a Big City," is near completion. Asked to show the manuscript, she said, "As you can see I don't have it on me."

On reading and filing the petition of the Auditor General of the State of Michigan praying for a decree in favor of the State of Michigan, against each parcel of land therein described, for the amounts therein specified, claimed to be due for taxes, interest and charges on each such parcel of land, and that such lands be sold for the amounts so claimed by the State of Michigan

It is ordered that said petition will be brought on for hearing and decree at the April term of this Court to be held at Escanaba in the County of Delta, State of Michigan, on the 11th day of April, A. And it is further ordered that in pursuance of said decree the lands described in said petition for which a decree of sale shall be made, will be sold for the several taxes, interest and charges thereon as determined by such decree, on the first Tuesday in May thereafter, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m. on said day, or on the day or days subsequent thereto as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands and of each and every parcel thereof, at the office of the County Treasurer, or at such convenient place as shall be selected by him at the county seat of the County of Delta, State of Michigan; and that the sale then and there made will be a public sale, and each parcel described in the decree shall be separately exposed for sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person paying the full amount charged against such parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein; or, if no person will pay the taxes and charges and take a conveyance of less than the entire thereof, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. STATE OF MICHIGAN

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF DELTA IN CHANCERY

In the Matter of the Petition of Murl K. Aten, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon. }

To the Circuit Court for the County of Delta, in Chancery:

Murl K. Aten, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.
Dated: January 26, 1949.

MURL K. ATEN,
Auditor General of the State of Michigan
for and in behalf of said State

CLUB — FEATURES WOMAN'S PAGE FASHIONS — ACTIVITIES

Spring glove styles take frills in hand. Washable nylon makes net-ruffled crocheted mitts (top left) and sheer pink gloves with double-fluted cuffs (bottom center). Double cuffs of white cotton gauntlets (top right) are adaptable to sleeve length. Twin tabs on cuffs of beige capeskin gloves (bottom right) unbutton to show brown inset. Pink leather fluting ruffles navy gloves (bottom left).

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

New York, (NEA)—Quick-drying no-need-to-press nylon takes like a duck to water to the frilly glove styles stressed for Spring.

Gloves of sheer, 51-gauge nylon fabric edged with triple rows of frilly fluting launder like stockings, dry in minutes and need no pressing to restore their impeccable pleats.

Neither do hand-crocheted gloves of white nylon yarn present any problem of upkeep, despite the fact that they are net-ruffled elbow-length evening mitts.

Nylon is not the only fabric that carries frills to the hands this Spring. Even double-woven white cottons do. Take, as proof, six button-length cotton gauntlets, dauble-cuffed with hand-stitched scallops. These cuffs may be turned up or down, according to the length of the sleeves with which they are worn.

Even capeskin makes its surrender to frills. One style of navy blue capeskin looks as ruffly as a petticoae with fluted edges of pink leather forming frills at the wrist. Tailored capeskins not only go fancy but put on a fine performance. On two-toned capeskins, for example, there are twin triangles of contrasting leather tabbing the wrists. If a woman wants to turn her gloves of two colors into one, she simply buttons the twin triangles into a single tab which shows the lining and eliminates the contrasting color.

Unusual Hands at League Session

Several brilliant hands were dealt during the session of the Delta Bridge League. One in particular was of tremendous proportions—the dealer held four honor-tricks, headed by a six card suit, while partner held four and one-half honor-tricks, with three cards headed by the ace in partner's suit. The combined hands contained every ace, king and queen of the deck. Two pairs bid seven while all others bid six. Needless to say the grand slam was a "laydown."

A number of very interesting part-score hands were also in evidence, presenting numerous opportunities for sparkling play and defense to the players.

The next regular session of the League will be held on Saturday, April 2 at the Elks Club.

Pairs scoring 50 per cent or over in last Friday's session were:

1. L. W. Olson and J. L. Temby .6280
2. Mrs. G. E. Dehlin and Mrs. C. W. Murdock .6042
3-4 (tie) Mrs J. C. Bennett and Mrs. Anna Kraus .5506
3-4 (tie) Mrs. B. M. Howe and Mrs. Joseph Shipman .5506
5. Mrs. L. S. Bowe and Mrs. W. J. Clark .5308
6 G. E. Dehlin and C. W. Murdock .5099

Dubious Air To Some Compliments

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Even though you hear them often, aren't these rather dubious compliments:

"I've never heard her speak an unkind word about anyone." Maybe that means she's afraid to speak her mind.

"She sacrificed everything for her children and they don't show her any consideration at all." All that means is that as a mother she is a complete failure.

"Her house is so clean you could eat off the floor." What's so good about that, if they've got a dining room table?

"She gave him the best years of her life". Well, she had to do something with them.

"She'd make some man an awfully good wife." How come no man ever figured that out?

Exciting, Too

"She's as comfortable as an old shoe." And the woman that description fits is usually just about as exciting as an old shoe, too.

"She looks like her daughter's sister." Then she ought to be spending more on her daughter's looks and less on her own.

"She means well." What good does that do anybody?

"She hasn't changed a bit." Shouldn't the years improve us? The person who hasn't changed a bit has only been marking time.

"She certainly knows how to manage her husband." Another way of saying a man is henpecked.

Sour cream may be flavored with salt, sugar and lemon juice and served as a dressing for fruit salad. Orange, grapefruit, and banana slices on romaine or watercress makes a particularly good salad for this dressing; sprinkle the banana slices with a little of the citrus juice to keep them from turning color.

Use a small amount of rice pudding by stretching it with cooked dried apricots; garnish with a little whipped evaporated milk or cream, if desired.

Today's Recipes

Pork chops and yams are combined in a delicious casserole dish one of the favorite recipes in Miss Adrienne Tousignant's collection.

Pork Chops and Yams

Six pork chops, six yams or sweet potatoes, one-half cup brown sugar, salt and pepper, one to two cups milk.

Place a layer of sliced sweet potatoes or yams in a greased casserole, dust with salt and pepper and a little brown sugar. Continue layers until casserole is two-thirds full. Heat the milk and pour it over the potatoes. It should cover them.

Place pork chops on top, cover and bake for one hour at 350 degrees. Remove cover and season with salt and pepper. Leave cover off and cook until chops are tender and nicely browned.

Tart apples, pared, cored and cut in eighths used in place of yams makes an excellent dish.

Boys' Town in Italy

SOME of Italy's homeless, orphaned shavers, victims of the war and hard times, are growing up in little communities of their own. There are seven of these boys' towns in Italy now. Several more are being built.

The first of these, the Boys' Republic at Santa Marinella near Rome, was founded four years ago by an Irishman, Monsignor John Patrick Carroll-Abbing, known all over Italy as the Monsignor of the Shoeshine Boys. He started with one room of a bomb-damaged villa. It has since grown into a spacious town with its own postoffice, bank, city hall, shops, schools, cottages and workshops. "It is not so much the buildings as the citizens that make a town," said Monsignor Carroll, and, acting on that principle, he set about building citizens.

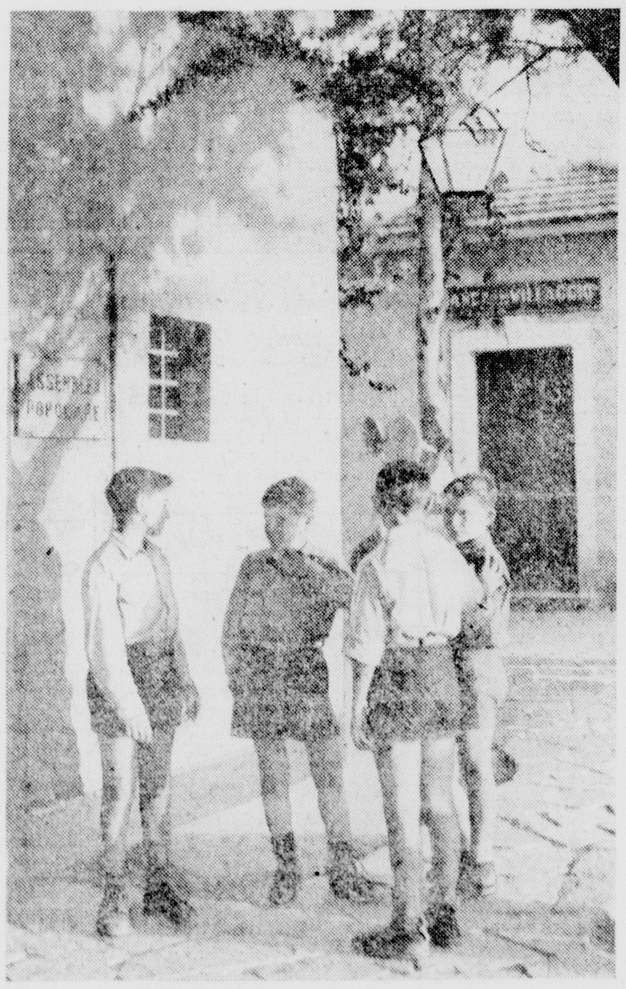

The 250 boys at Santa Marinella, ranging from 8 to 15, elect their own mayor and councillors, discuss and settle the affairs of the town in their own Popular Assembly. They're also taught trades such as pottery, carpentry, shoemaking, machine work. Plans are being made to expand the republic which will accommodate 1,000. Help given by Americans through the American Relief for Italy, Inc., has helped these boys' towns to grow and become self-supporting. Activities at the Santa Marinella Republic are pictured here.

CLEANUP. In the morning the town is spick and span once again.

MILKING TIME. The young farmers produce the milk, butter and cheese needed by the community.

YOUNG CITIZENS discuss affairs of state outside city hall. Bank in rear has not yet opened its doors for day's business.

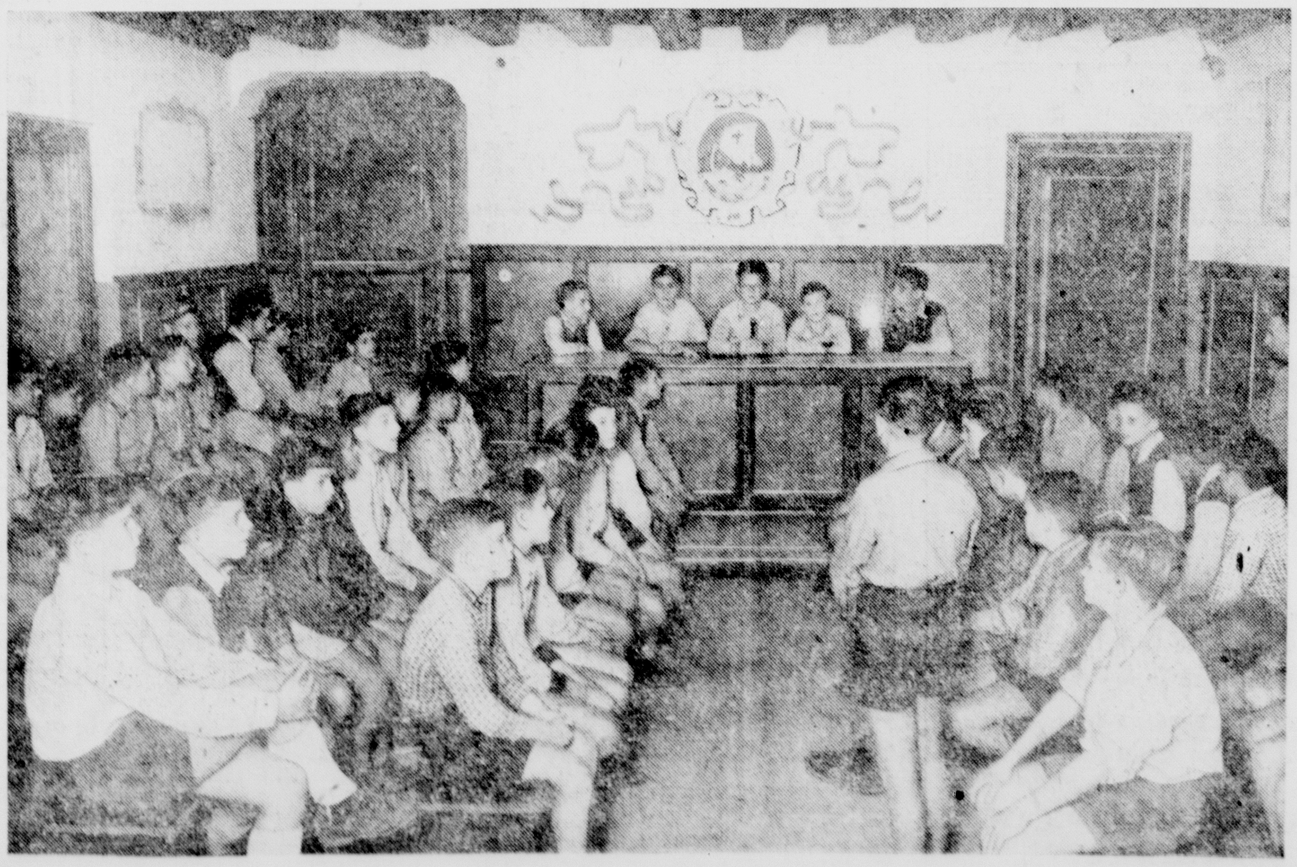

THE BOYS crowd around Msgr. Carroll-Abbing outside his cottage. He has been resident of Italy since 1930.

YOUTH turns out a jigsaw puzzle. While the boys are learning a trade they are earning as well.

FUN AND WORK. These happy young sculptors are carrying on one of Italy's most noble professions.

POPULAR ASSEMBLY IN SESSION. Under chairmanship of their elected mayor, the young citizens discuss the town's affairs.

PADDY MILES BADLY HURT

Unoccupied Car Backs Into Aged Man

Patrick H. Miles, 87, is in the hospital suffering from injuries of a nature not fully determined caused when an unoccupied car backed into him just as he stepped off the curb at the State Savings Bank corner Saturday morning.

The car, belonging to Mrs. Jennie Pizzala, of Fayette, had been parked by her on Main street near the bank corner where there is a slight incline. What happened has not as yet been fully determined, but when his plight was discovered, he was lying under the car between the two hind wheels.

Rushed to the hospital, the x-ray showed that no bones were broken but he appeared to be bruised about the left side. Being in an extremely feeble state of health at the time of the mishap his present condition indicates that the car pushed him over rather than struck him a stunning blow.

It had been Mr. Miles' custom to take a daily walk the entire length of Cedar street and he was doing this when the accident occured. His eyesight has been bad and he was unable to see any danger of this sort in time to avoid it.

Mrs. Pizzala was given a summons by the city police charging her with not having her car properly braked.

METHOD IN HIS MADNESS— Some people may look with raised eyebrows at a man who tests the I.Q. of crows, but John Alpin Graydon does just that and confounds his critics by pointing out that he hasn't punched a time-clock in years. Graydon is a 72-year-old inventor, scientist and philosopher from Ridgefield, N. J. At top left, Graydon talks with one of his crows as he gets the bird's reactions to words and sounds. Top right, he displays his tubeless tire, made from strips of old tire casings. Developed during the wartime tire shortage, he still uses it as a spare. At right he plays his violin with a bow—actually four bows together—which plays all four strings at once. A noted violinist will soon use the bow on a radio broadcast.

Rare Tribute Is Paid Don Gazlay

A most unusual tribute is paid Donald Gazlay of this city by a Scotswoman in a letter recently received here. The text of the letter follows:

"I should like to pay tribute to one of your citizens of Gladstone, in the person of Donald Gazlay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gazlay, 1322 Michigan avenue, Gladstone. I am just a Scotch housewife and mother, and I just want to echo my appreciation of him from across the Atlantic in Glasgow, Scotland.

"Don came to my home one evening in July 1938 during the Empire exhibition, we were both strangers to one another, but soon we became great friends, although we Scotch are slow to make friends, I can assure you I liked him from the first meeting.

"There was a great bond of friendship between us and we kept up a correspondence all during the time Don was studying in Europe, and he always kept me informed how his studies were progressing.

"Then war came; Don joined the U. S. Forces and came back to Britain. While here I got him to make my home his home and he shared our joys and sorrows here, and we had happy family gatherings while he was here. Then the war finished and Don went back to Gladstone, then back again to Europe and he again visited me when possible, and for the very little I did for Don he gave me the most wonderful holiday of a life-time, traveling on the Continent visiting Holland, Belgium, France, Luxemburg and Weisbaden (Germany).

"On 3rd February 1949, I was able to share my experience to a large meeting of ladies' of the Women's Guild (Church of Scotland) which was greatly appreciated. I not only gained of a friendship in Don, but also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gazlay.

"I wish to thank you Gladstone for a very fine gentleman.

Mrs. Margaret Wattie,
Scotland.

English Steeplechase Is Won By Russian Hero, Who Pays 203 To 1

Aintree, England, March 28 (AP)—Who wins on those fabulous odds in the Grand National steeplechase?

Russian hero paid 203-1 on Totalisator for his runaway triumph in the National Saturday over Aintree's 30-breath-taking jumps.

His starting price with bookies was 66-1.

Choice multipying factors they were—if you had a few shillings on them. But who knew about this unsung underdog who shocked 300,000 spectators?

We found one woman with a win and place ticket to cash at tote. They would earn her 125 pounds ($500) for a total risk of one pound ($4).

She was Mrs. Bill Williamson, wife of the owner of Russian hero.

Owner Bill wagered ten pounds ($40) several months ago at 300-1.

Aintree was a ghost track when the newsmen closed up their typewriters hours after the race and stepped into the paddock snow white with torn-up betting tickets.

Were there no winners beside Williamson? From a small bar came sounds of revelry. We peeked in and found Russian Hero fans singing the Volga Boatman.

A man in a ladies' hat, his lips kissed crimson, handed us a high ball.

"I won 3,000 pounds," he said. "Have a drink."

He was George Leech, a farmer neighbor of Williamson and he had backed Russian Hero and Fair Judgment, winner of the Lincolnshire handicap, on a "spring double."

He produced a pal, who had won the same sum. That made four winners.

Stewart Granger, British film star playing a Russian Hero in a Tolstoy play at Liverpool, was on the winner. So were some of the "Hunch-Playing" cast.

In the Totalisator "spring double" there were 30 winning tickets. The payoff on each is 986 pounds (3,980). Tickets cost five shillings (one dollar) if bought before March 8 and ten shillings ($2) if bought from then until March 17.

But for most Englishmen there was no such happy outcome. They just ripped up losing tickets and, optimistic gamblers they are, began searching for a "dark horse" for next year.

DOING THE DUNE—Teenagers find that water skis work just as well on Jockey's Ridge, a 100-foot pile of sand at Kitty Hawk, N. C. The slopes are long, and have a 50 to 60-degree incline.

That Cinches It! Hardwares Beat VFW Again; This Time By 70 To 56

Many, many times have the Delta Hardwares and VFW met on the court this season, and many, many times have the Hardwares come out on top. The VFWs have toppled their No. 1 rivals only once.

The Hardwares did it again yesterday afternoon, and with the robins beginning to chirp and snow fast disappearing, that should just about clinch it for the 1948-49 season as far as the Vets and Hardwares are concerned.

The score was 70-56 and the occasion was a benefit for the Catholic Retreat at Garden.

Big guns for the victors were Bob Dufour, who duplicated his 20-point spree of the VFW-Hardware finals in the city basketball tournament last Friday night, and Tom St. Germain and Ed Gauthier. They scored 15 and 13, respectively.

Don Lewis topped the hard-fighting VFW aggregation with 16 counters, followed by Jack Finn at 15 and Jim Kessler at 12. Bob Ranguette did not play with the Vets on this occasion.

One of the largest independent basketball crowds of the season witnessed this encounter at William Bonifas gym.

To the credit of the VFW, they never give up, and they'd play the Hardwares tonight at the drop of the hat if the occasion demanded it.

They displayed plenty of staying power yesterday afternoon when they kept the heat on throughout the last half and threatened to offset a big half-time edge held by the Hardwares, 30-18.

The Vets outscored their rivals, 24-23, in a rousing third period.

Soo Indians Ousted From AHA Playoffs; Rovers Win, 7 to 6

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 28 (AP)—Sault Ste. Marie's Indians bowed out of the Amateur Hockey Association playoffs today after losing to the New York Rovers 7 to 6 last night.

It was the fourth victory for the New Yorkers in the best-of-seven quarterfinal series. The Indians won only one game.

The winning goal in last night's overtime battle was scored by Rover Center John Flynn. Earlier the Soo team had rallied to tie a New York's 5 to 2 lead.

New York's opponent in the semifinals will be the winner of a current series between teams from Spokane, Wash., and Hibbing, Minn. The other finalist will be either Toledo, O., or Windsor, Ont.

Minnesota No. 1 Gymnastics Team In the Big Nine

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 28 (AP)—Minnesota reigned today as the number one gymnastics power in the Big Nine by virtue of a one-point victory over runnerup Illinois in Saturday's conference meet.

The victory, third straight for the Gophers, gave them their sixth title in the 20-year history of conference gymnastics. The Illini again are the runners-up with five titles.

The 1949 meet was a battle to the finish between Illinois' well-balanced squad and the four-man team that carried Minnesota's colors. The Gopher quartet was equal to the task and came out with a 52-51 margin.

Michigan, on the impetus of Pete Barthell's double win in tumbling and parallel bars, placed third with 35 points. Trailing were Wisconsin, 6½ points, Iawo 4, Indiana 3 and Ohio State 2½.

The Minnesota combine drew its strength from the fact that Co-captain Jim Peterson repeated as all-around champ. He also took third on the high bar as Joe Calvetti of Illinois successfully defended his title, tied for second in tumbling and placed second in flying rings.

Detroit, Boston Trail, 2-1, In Stanley Series

By Ralph Roden
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unless the Detroit Red Wings or the Boston Bruins win tomorrow night the possibility of the United States housing the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup is extremely remote.

The Wings, National Hockey League pennant winners, clash with the Montreal Canadiens in Montreal while the Bruins tangle with Leafs in Toronto in the third games of their best four out of seven semifinal round series. Both American teams trail in the series, two games to one.

Victory by either Montreal or Toronto would enable the Canadian teams to gain a virtual stranglehold although two of the three games then remaining would be played on American ice.

The Wings nipped the Canadiens, 2-1, in overtime in the series opener last Tuesday in Detroit. Montreal came back and squared the series Thursday night with a 4-3 overtime triumph. The flying Frenchmen edged the Wings, 3-2, in Montreal Saturday night to gain the upper hand.

Toronto, winner of the cup the past two seasons, took the Bruins into camp twice on its own ice. The Leafs clipped the Bruins, 3-0 and 3-2. Boston climbed back into the series with a 5-4, overtime victory in Toronto Saturday.

The fifth game of the Detroit-Montreal series will be played in Detroit Thursday night while the fifth game of the Boston-Toronto set will be staged at Boston Wednesday evening.

3 Detroit Bowlers Spark State Meet

Grand Rapids, March 28 (AP)—Brilliant performances by three Detroit keglers dominated action in the sixth weekend of the annual state men's bowling tournament.

Bill Bunetta, rolling the first 700 singles series of the meet, took over leadership in actual singles with a score of 701 pins. He put together games of 246, 256 and 199.

Two of his teammates on the Ira Wilson and Sons Dairy squad easily grabbed the actual doubles lead when Hank Gavie and Pete Carter amassed a total of 1305.

Ohio State Tops Big 9 Swim Meet

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 28 (AP)—Ohio State's powerhouse swimming team today wrote in a national title on their record book for the 1949 campaign.

The Big Nine champions breezed in with the team title in the 26th annual championships of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Ohio State captured 49 points in the three-day swim carnival which came to a close here Saturday night. Iowa was second with 35 points. Defending champion Michigan was third with 32.

Coach Mike Peppe's new champions had a pair of double winners—Bill Smith in the 220 and 440 freestyle, which he also won last year, and Bruce Harlan, one-meter and three-meter diving. Harlan was defending low-board champion.

Smith, in winning the 440, set one of three new records which came out of the meet. His time of 2:08.5 knocked out the NCAA mark of 2:09.1 hung up by George Hoogerhyde of Michigan State in a trial heat last year.

Joe Verdeur of LaSalle came up with a new standard in the 150-yard individual medley, which the NCAA restored in the championships this year after a 19-year lapse. Verdeur's mark was 1:30.8—two seconds better than the American record established by Harry Holiday of Michigan in 1946.

Yale's 400-yard freestyle combination of Paul Girdes, Bill Farnsworth, Larry Munson and Ray Reid was clocked in 3:27 flat, which clipped eight-tenths of a second off Michigan's '942 NCAA record.

Clearwater, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Catcher Yogi Berra's sore arm is causing some alarm in the camp of the New York Yankees. Berra has played in only two games leaving Ralph Houk and Charley Silvera to do the brunt of the work. Yogi is taking light throwing exercises.

Mangrum And Snead Meet In Greensboro Golf Playoff Today

Greensboro, N. C., March 28 (AP)—The historians were ready for a field day today as Lloyd Mangrum and Sammy Snead matched strokes in an 18-hole playoff for Greensboro Open Golf tournament honors.

No matter what the outcome, a record performance was assured.

A victory for Snead would make the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slugger the first three-time winner in 10 years of Greensboro tournaments. He won the first in 1938 and repeated in 1946. During two war years the tourney was suspended.

A Mangrum triumph would give the Chicagoan the distinction of being the first to win the event twice in a row.

The tournament's first playoff was assured yesterday when Mangrum came up with a birdie four on the last hole to catch Snead at 276—eight under par for the 6,630-yard course.

A short while before Snead had to settle for a birdie on the same hole when an 18-foot bid for an eagle was inches short.

The two had been running neck and neck most of the way.

Mangrum, regardless of whether he takes down $2,000 top money or the $1,400 runnerup end, will be back on top as number 1 money winner of the year, replacing Cary Middlecoff. The Memphis dentist fell off to 74-70 yesterday to finish well down the list, although his $240 pickup gave him a second best total of $8,296.

Detroit Golfer Chick Harbert also collected $240 after finishing in a three-way tie for 14th place with Jim Turnesa of Briar Cliff, N. Y., and Middlecoff. Each posted scores of 284. The Detroiter put his total together on three rounds of 70 and a 74.

News? Rolfe Still Worried Over Tige Scarcity of Hits

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 28 (AP) — Woefully weak Detroit hitting was still Tiger Manager Red Rolfe's headache today as he sent his charges into an exhibition contest with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Since the Grapefruit league schedule began, Rolfe has watched Detroit batters in 13 games. The Tigers have won five of them, lost seven and tied one.

But the batting picture is more serious than the won-lost record indicates. Detroit has faced regular major league pitchers in 65 innings, and during those frames has collected only 11 runs and 39 hits.

So with the American league opened less than a month away, Manager Rolfe is keeping busy trying out different combinations that he hopes will perk up the Tiger batting.

Lack of hitting was the answer again yesterday as Detroit bowed to the Washington Senators 3 to 2.

Brooklyn Camp Looks Like Department Store

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, March 28 (AP) — Word from the South as spring training reaches the point where you can tell something about the clubs is "don't be too optimistic about the Cardinals. Except for Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter and Harry Brecheen they're second division stuff." . . . The point seems to be that they have no reliable catcher, first baseman and center fielder and there's an iffy infield, depending on the health of Marion, Schoendienst and Kurowski . . . The same observers aren't too high on the Braves, who haven't changed much since last year, and figure the youthful, hustling Dodgers are the team to watch . . . At least Branch Rickey has plenty of material at Vero Beach . . . They say the place now looks like a huge department store and the boys are wondering if Branch will adopt the slogan: "Six Percent Off For Cash."

There's no other explanation why the Peaches, who finished seventh, drew 99,500 cash customers last season . . . The Metropolitan Basketball Writers' Association voted Hank Iba the "coach of the year." It would be hard to pick a better guy for the honor . . . Feller Has Least Impressive Record

San Diego, Calif., March 28 (AP)—Of the Cleveland Indians' five starting pitchers, rapid Robert Feller has the least impressive record for two weeks of exhibition game hurling.

But Bob shows signs of reaching form—although he does not want to hit his peak until mid-April.

In six innings to yesterday, Feller was nicked for five earned runs. In five frames of yesterday's 4-2 tribe victory over San Francisco, Feller yielded only one earned run. He scattered five hits, threw more loosely and gained control as he went along.

Kentucky Captures 2nd Straight NCAA Title From Aggies

Seattle, March 29 (AP) — Alex Groza — Basketball's magic mountain—and his spellbinding Kentucky teammates worked their sorcery on Oklahoma A. & M. as they captured their second straight NCAA championship Saturday.

Before an overflow crowd of 12,500 at the University of Washington's Edmundson Pavilion, Coach Adolph Rupp's Hoopsters outgalloped and outshot the valiant Aggies, 46-36.

Earlier in the evening, hard driving Illinois mounted a powerful late-game surge to edge Oregon State College, 57-53, and snatch third place in the tournament.

In the keenly awaited clash between offense and defense, Coach Henry Iba's gifted shackle-makers were able to fit handcuffs for all the Wildcats but Groza. The 6-foot-7-inch center rammed in 25 points, however, before fouling out five minutes before the final gun. And Bob Harris, the equally altitudinous Aggie pivotman, fouled out early in the second half trying to truss him up.

Groza cracked three NCAA scoring records before taking his final canter to the bench and was voted by attending sportswriters the most valuable man in the playoffs.

His three-game totals of 82 points, 31 field goals and 20 foul points all set new standards. The old marks 76 points and 30 field goals were set by Bob Kurland, Oklahoma A. & M., in 1945, and the former record of 18 foul points by Jack Underman, Ohio State, in 1946.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Pvt. Eugene Gardner, who was killed in action in Italy on March 28, 1944.

He little thought when leaving home,
He would return no more,
That he in death so soon would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.
We do not know what pain he bore,
We did not see him die,
We only know he passed away,
And could not say goodbye.

Sadly missed by his parents,

Mr. and Mrs. Alphone Gardner,
Brothers and Sisters.

ISLE ROYALE MINE TO QUIT

Shareholders Will Vote On March 30

Houghton—Shareholders of the Isle Royale Copper Co. on March 30 in Houghton will vote on the question of liquidation.

As there appears to be no hope of finding new ore deposits of commercial value, the stockholders no doubt will concur with the directors, who advise that the term of the company's existence be shortened and its affairs closed.

The balance of cash on hand will be distributed to the shareholders on a pro rata basis. Net current assets now average about $5.70 per share and this amount will be increased with liquidation.

Thus will be brought to an end a copper mining operation that had its start 97 years ago, for the old Isle Royale mine was opened in 1852.

That was the first mining in the Portage Lake district, on the south side. Production was started in 1853 and for a total of 73 years the Isle Royale group was a producer and an important economic factor in the life of Houghton.

Peak Employment

Peak employment was in 1917, when 1,000 men were on the Payroll of the old New Jersey company, which was succeeded in 1937 by the present company organized under the law of Michigan.

The maximum number employed by the Michigan company was 454 in 1942. On V-J Day in September, 1945, 307 men were on the rolls. In August, 1948, just before the lay-off, the number of men was 260.

Isle Royale, like many low grade properties, had its ups and downs, but the various managements faced their vicissitudes with courage.

During its 73 active years, the mine produced a total of 311,093,324 pounds of copper. For a total of 24 years the property was either idle or in the process of rehabilitation or preparation for mining. In its last active period of 11 years, from 1938 to 1949, it produced a total of 66,963,000 pounds of copper.

Isle Royale's original properties, the Isle Royale, Grand Portage, and Huron mines, were operated under various auspices in a desultory fashion and from 1853 to 1885, a total of 8,818,194 pounds of copper were produced.

1918 Was Peak Year

The old New Jersey company's peak production year was 1918, when 14,442,508 pounds were refined. In 1919, a total of 13,007,647 pounds were produced. The years 1916 and 1917 also were highly productive, with 13,480,921 and 12,412,111 pounds, respectively.

The present Michigan company's highest productive year was 1939, when 8,094,888 pounds were turned out. In 1940, the output was 7,731,259 pounds. Production then dropped somewhat below the seven million mark.

Isle Royale was a lean mine, and in the early years of the New Jersey company the yield of copper per ton ranged from 11.70 pounds in 1901 to 17.95 in 1919, when better selection of the rock was adopted. In 1921, the yield increased to 21.37 pounds, and in 1922 to 26.92. From 1922 to 1932, when the old company ceased operations, the average was 23.77 pounds.

The present company's best yield per ton was in its first year of operation, 1938, when 23.81 pounds per ton were recovered. The yield did not go below 18.34 pounds. The recovery in the last year of operation, 1948, was 19.46 pounds.

EQUAL EXCHANGE

In primitive societies, the taking of interest for the loan of goods or services rendered, in transactions between members of the same community, was unknown. All that was expected was the return of similar goods or services.

A war-developed substitute for mica in radio condensers, barium titanate ceramic, promises to give superior performance to specialized loudspeakers or submarine sound detection microphones.

Michigan Woman Sets Rifle Mark In Indiana Meet

"Michigan on Canvas" the J. L. Hudson Company's famous collection of 100 paintings of present-day life in Michigan, will be shown on Mackinac Island, in the original warehouse of the American Fur Company, July 3 through August 24. It will be the 28th showing of this collection of prints by 10 of America's foremost artists, which have been viewed by more than 760,000 persons during the last year.

The collection includes paintings depicting Michigan's giant automotive industry, its farms and orchards, hunting and fishing areas mining, lumbering and shipping operations, and other interesting and important phases of life in the Wolverine State. Many of them were painted in the Upper Peninsula.

"This exhibit in the American Fur Company's 130-year-old historic structure", said the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau is announcing the showing, "should be an inducement for many Michigan residents to visit historic Mackinac Island."

Bishop To Speak At Boston Parley

Michigan's leadership in helping improve and modernize its tourist and resort facilities is being recognized in other states and areas.

As a result, officials of the New England Council are eager to have their members learn what Michigan State College and the Michigan Tourist Council is doing in the field of education, research and extension to help resort and hotel operators.

To that end, they have invited George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau to speak in Boston April 28 and 29 and to tell them what the state's agencies are doing to improve facilities and raise the standards of service offered tourist guests in Michigan. He gave a similar talk at the National Association of Travel Officials convention in Miami recently.

Bishop will leave Marquette Wednesday morning, April 27, and fly to Boston, reaching there that night. The following day he will speak to a group of men from Harvard College and a group representing the six New England states. On April 29, he will address the membership of the Pioneer Valley Association, of Northhampton, Mass., at their spring meeting in Cape Cod.

Field Mouse Kills Snake, Drops Dead

New Providence, N. J., (AP)—That the race is not always to the swift nor the battle to the strong was proved when a tiny field mouse killed a poisonous copperhead snake.

The mouse dropped dead at the end of the fight.

But it was still a remarkable performance, in the opinion of Mrs. Mildred Rulison, nature supervisor for the Union County Park commission's Trailside museum.

Mrs. Rulison gave this description of the struggle:

She gave the copperhead the field mouse to eat. The mouse dodged and leaped to the snake's back. He sank his minute teeth into the snake's neck.

The copperhead, unable to strike back, thrashed around until it died. Then the mouse also dropped dead.

Mrs. Rulison said she could not tell whether the mouse died of snake bite or had been crushed to death by the thrashing of the snake.

Bureau Officials To Hold Meeting

Marquette, Mich.—A meeting of officers, directors and executive committee members of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau has been called for April 6 by James J. Beckman, president.

It will be held in the city hall in Marquette, opening at 9:30 a. m., and will be open to the public. A noon luncheon will be held at the Hotel Northland.

The April gathering will replace the annual mid-winter session of the Bureau, which had been postponed from February. Principal items of business on the meeting agenda will be the setting up of a budget for 1949, reports of committees and consideration of special projects and legislative items that affect the Upper Peninsula.

A dinner conference on the evening of Tuesday, April 5, will precede the general meeting.

Fishermen Will Meet On April 2 At St. Ignace

St. Ignace — The Fish and Fisheries Committee of the Michigan House of Representatives will hold a meeting for commercial fishermen of the Upper Peninsula in St. Ignace on Saturday, April 2 at 2:30 p. m. in the LaSalle auditorium.

The committee is calling this meeting for the purpose of discussing new legislation that has been proposed this year. It is expected there will be at least 150 commercial fishermen from the Lake Superior and Lake Michigan region at the meeting.

Industrial Division Bulletin Service Started By Bureau

Marquette, Mich.— Lack of funds and the uncertainty of the national industrial picture have caused the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau to move slowly in putting its new industrial program into operation, according to announcement from its Marquete office today.

The announcement was contained in an industrial division bulletin, a service just started by the Bureau.

"Ten of the communities which accepted quotas for the support of the industrial division of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau have paid their contributions to date," the Bureau states. "Logically we cannot put a man in the field at the head of the industrial division until funds are in sight."

However, it added, that industries have been located at Chassell, Ontonagon, Stephenson, Crystal Falls, Escanaba and other points during the last six months "and the industrial interests awakened and the surveys made have doubtless had their influence in results accomplished."

The bulletin lists industrial prospects which have been received within the last week and announces that five more communities are now making industrial surveys.

Field work for industrial prospects is being conducted and through the cooperation of the Michigan Department of Economic Development, the Ontonagon industrial committee and the Bureau's industrial division, Burns Warden of the state agency, and Gerald Warrener, of Ontonagon, have been in the Chicago Milwaukee area contacting industrial leaders who might be interested in opening plants or branch plants in the Upper Peninsula.

"They have received considerable encouragement, but the general uncertainty which business is facing has retarded decisions," the Bureau's bulletin stated.
